NEW U. S. BUDGET $17,485,000,000

NAVAL FORCES OF U. S. FORM THREE FLEETS

COMMAND CHANGED; LIMITS RAISED ON PERSONNEL

Washington, Jan. 8, (AP)—The navy reorganized its fighting forces today into three United States fleets and raised the limit of its enlisted personnel to provide crews at full war-time strength for ships under construction.

Secretary Knox announced the changes, which were authorized by President Roosevelt. At the same time the navy secretary told his press conference he did not believe the United States could spare more destroyers for Great Britain without "impairing" our fleet.

Under the reorganization, the naval force will consist of an Atlantic fleet, a Pacific fleet and an Asiatic fleet. Each will operate under a commander-in-chief.

40,000 Men Needed

Rear Admiral Husband E. Kimmel, who will head the Pacific fleet, also will be commander-in-chief of the combined forces. He will have the rank of admiral and will succeed Admiral James O. Richardson, who has held the post for little over a year.

Richardson was ordered to report to Knox for duty, but the secretary did not disclose what his new assignment would be.

The authorized enlisted strength of the navy was raised to 232,000 men, including both regulars and reserves on active duty. The present personnel numbers about 191,000 compared with 145,000 enlisted men in the navy last July. The increase in the limit was effected under Mr. Roosevelt's powers to change the navy's authorized strength in an emergency.

New Vessels Added

Knox said that ships in service were operating with crews at full war-time strength, but that the increase was desired to assure full strength manpower for new vessels as they are completed.

President Roosevelt recommended in his budget message to congress today that the navy receive $3,358,558,414 during the fiscal year starting July 1941. This includes $1,515,000,000 for ship construction and machinery and for armor, armament and maintenance.

The sum is expected to continue and complete construction of 448 vessels. Of that number, 80 already have been commissioned, but they need certain additions to armament and other items which will be charged against the building fund.

Knox said that the navy intended to ask congress to authorize 280 new auxiliary vessels which officials estimated would cost an additional $350,000,000. They will include submarine chasers, patrol boats, mine sweepers and vessels to lay nets as harbor defenses against submarines.

The navy secretary said that it was not planned to ask congress

HIGHWAY WAGE RAISES SIFTED

Kennedy Claims Payroll Reduced; Cites Higher Living Costs

Lansing, Jan. 8 (AP)—Vernon J. Brown, state budget director, said tonight he would investigate an attempt by the state highway department to grant pay increases to 1,065 of its employes, with promotions and pay raises to 299 others, which, he declared, would add $190,000 to its annual payroll. He said the department's last payroll listed 3,567 employes.

G. Donald Kennedy, state highway commissioner, pointed out, however, that the department also was dismissing 169 employes, and that this, together with the salary boosts, would reduce its payroll about $4,000 a month.

A third of the employe releases, he said, involved transfers to other departments, while in other cases he was enforcing economies.

Brown said he was impressed that the petitions to the old civil service commission for permission to make the pay raises were "dated back to December 16, although they have just now been received."

Brown said he would investigate to determine what was the purpose of affixing a December 16 date, and whether the new civil service commission had any power to approve or disapprove the raises.

Kennedy's statement said the raises were granted because of higher living costs and "experience that the best of our employes are lost to private industry if we do not pay them in proportion to their earning capacity in private business."

He said raises went to 96 persons earning more than $2,500 a year, and 444 went to hourly wage earners.

Over 300 Italian Prisoners Taken On Albania Front

Athens, Jan. 8 (AP)—More than 300 Italian prisoners of war were taken today in restricted local fighting upon the Albanian front, the Greek high command announced.

Much war material of all sorts was declared seized and Greek aviation was said to have successfully bombed and machine-gunned various battle field areas.

Earlier, minor gains by Greek patrols specifically in the Klisura sector and the bombing by British planes of Elbasani, the central Albanian base of the Italians, had ben reported.

A government order increased the number of meatless days from five to six, limiting it to Sunday menus. Chicken still may be eaten on Thursdays and fish any day.

Youth 'Foretells' Invasion Of U. S.; Taken In Custody

Cincinnati, Jan. 8, (AP) — A youth who, federal officers said, telegraphed Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt to "send an airplane" for him so he might confer with her regarding "imminent invasion of the United States by Hitler" was taken in custody today.

Vern H. Wilson, assistant U. S. attorney, said the youth told him Hitler would invade the country by Jan. 13 and that he wished to go to Washington to discuss the situation with the first lady.

No House-Cleaning For 14,000 State Civil Service Jobs

Detroit, Jan. 8 (AP)—The new civil service commission closed the "back door" of summary dismissal for more than 14,000 of 18,000-odd state employes today and banished their last remaining fears that a political house-cleaning might usher in a new merit system.

The commission unanimously extended full civil service status under the new system to three groups of employes who won their jobs through examinations conducted under previous administrations. These three groups will remain in their present jobs without submitting to further tests.

Protection was accorded not only to 8,875 employes specifically classified under the 1939 civil service act and another 1,470 in the state police, conservation department and unemployment compensation commission whose jobs were secured by departmental civil service systems, but also to 3,850 employes who were placed under civil service by the 1937 legislature and later removed by the 1939 legislature's so-called "Ripper" bill.

Examination Fees Waived

Today's action left the future status of fewer than 3,000 state employes in doubt, since the constitutional amendment setting up the new civil service system specifically exempts an estimated 1,500 employes—two to be designated at will by each appointive official and 1,111 employes of courts and colleges, members of paid commissions and other exempted positions.

The commission deferred action upon the 3,000 until its next meeting, to be held in Lansing on Tuesday. Chairman George J. Burke said the commission preferred not to act upon the remaining cases until it could confer with a representative of the attorney general.

The commission also authorized the director to certify current payrolls on a temporary basis, begin the work of classifying jobs not previously under civil service and prepare new examination schedules. Examination fees previously charged applicants for state employment were waived.

MAYOR JAILED; OFFICE IN CELL

Attorney General Rules Hamtramck President Must Take Job

Detroit, Jan. 8 (AP)—Serving a 60-day term for contempt of court, Mayor Walter Kanar of Hamtramck today was conducting his official duties from his Wayne county jail cell.

Records of last night's Hamtramck city council meeting disclosed he had signed several documents.

The mayor was sentenced by Judge Homer Ferguson Monday for alleged failure to satisfactorily answer questions regarding vice and gambling conditions in Hamtramck, largest Polish city in the nation.

Lansing, Jan. 8 (AP)—Attorney General Herbert J. Rushton held today Walter Kanar may not operate as mayor of Hamtramck from his cell in the Wayne county jail, where he is serving 60 days for contempt of court.

Rushton held that the Hamtramck charter provides that its council president becomes acting mayor when the mayor is incapacitated by illness, absence from the city or "other causes" and that his sentence to jail ranked among the "other causes."

The opinion was requested by Albert Zak, Hamtramck city clerk.

Milwaukee Boy, 18, Dies In Iron Lung After Year's Siege

Chicago, Jan. 8 (AP)—Jerome Safur, 18, Milwaukee high school student, died suddenly in Mount Sinai hospital today in an "iron lung" in which he had been encased for more than a year following an attack of infantile paralysis.

Dr. Leo B. Miller, attributing death to a heart attack, said Safur had made "good progress" up until about a month ago. The youth was brought to the hospital last Feb. 28.

Damage Is $10,000 In Petoskey Blaze

Petoskey, Mich., Jan. 8, (AP)—Damage estimated at $10,000 resulted tonight from a blaze that threatened the downtown business section. Firemen managed to confine the flames to the basement of the two-story Fryman block. The blaze was started in the basement of a book store, firemen said.

ITALIAN BASE ENCIRCLED BY BRITISH GUNS

"HELL ON WHEELS" CAVALRY SPELLS TOBRUK'S DOOM

(By The Associated Press)

Cairo, Egypt, Jan. 8—Britain's mechanized desert cavalry—"hell on wheels," they call it—rolled guns into place before Tobruk and other troops took up positions today for a siege of that virtually surrounded Italian base.

The stage was all but set for the pounding to commence by land, sea and by air. Tobruk's other defenses have been felt out by armored patrols and the British declared other units have flanked it from the west.

Airport Already Lost

Tobruk's airport at El Adem, 15 miles to the south, already is in British hands.

Any attempt by the Italians to make a determined fight of it at Tobruk may result in a major disaster for Premier Mussolini's men, British military authorities asserted.

Once the siege begins, they said, Marshal Rodolfo Graziani's forces would never reach Bengasi, next major base 200 miles to the west. A rout at Tobruk, they added, would leave the Italians with little chance of holding Bengasi and even less chance of making the hazardous 500-mile dash to Tripoli.

The British said that there remained the possibility of "a squad or two" getting through to Tobruk, but that the army of the Nile can prevent the arrival of any larger reinforcements.

Commander Escapes

Taking stock of losses at Bardia, the British high command reported the casualties among its British and Australian troops numbered "less than 600," compared with 30,000 Italians captured, killed or wounded there. (Virginio Gayda, Fascist editor, declared in Rome that the British casualties were "in the thousands.")

It turned out that General Annibale "Electric Whiskers" Bergonzoli, the Bardia commander, was not among the captives as previously reported. The British

(By The Associated Press)

President Roosevelt submitted to congress a record peacetime budget of $17,485,528,049, including $10,811,314,600 for defense, and indicated that more billions would be sought.

Secretary Knox reorganized the navy into three fleets—Atlantic, Pacific and Asiatic—and announced an increase of 42,000 men had been authorized. On the question of sending more destroyers to England he said that none could be detached from the fleet "without seriously impairing its efficiency."

The Red Cross announced that arrangements had been completed to send a cargo of condensed milk and other supplies to unoccupied France and flour and milk to Spain in an American ship late this month.

House Republicans replied to criticism of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt that they had not applauded the president's message at the opening of congress.

Meat Ration Again Reduced; "Steak Or Victory" for British

(By The Associated Press)

London, Jan. 8—The British meat ration, cut only yesterday to the equivalent of 32 cents worth per person per week, was sharply reduced again tonight—this time to the equivalent of 23 cents worth—after a virtually meatless week-end.

The people were told frankly they must choose between steaks and victories.

Because of the diversion of shipments for war purposes, the food ministry said, it will be necessary to vary the ration at short notice in the next few months within the range of about 21 to 32 cents.

Food Situation Scandal

It also was learned that an order may soon be issued making it illegal to obtain any two of the following dishes at one meal—fish, meat, poultry, cheese and eggs in the shell. Previously fish and meat at the same meal were taboo.

All this followed an outcry in the press against unrationed "luxury" meals in restaurants.

Special writers, terming the food situation a national scandal, described how they had eaten tremendous meals in swank spots without ration cards and declared "you can have as much food as you want—if you have the money."

Lord Woolton, the food minister, warned today that he could "no longer bring the world to our door," and appealed to the public to "eat British." He declared that imports must be held to a bare minimum.

Referring to last week's meat shortage—the first of the war—Lord Woolton said it was all caused by "excellent reasons," including the diversion of some supplies to Libya, where British troops still go forward.

RED CROSS AIDS HUNGRY NATIONS

Relief Ships Will Carry Foodstuff to Spain and Unoccupied France

Washintgon, Jan. 8, (AP)—Plans for limited food relief in unoccupied France and Spain were announced by the American Red Cross today after the British government agreed to permit the supplies to pass through the blockade.

The first relief ship will sail late this month, the Red Cross said, with canned milk, children's clothing, medical supplies and certain vitamin concentrates for unoccupied France and a consignment of flour and milk for Spain.

In addition, at the suggestion of President Roosevelt, the Red Cross has offered a cargo of wheat or flour to Generalissimo Francisco Franco of Spain to "meet the most immediate needs of the civilian population."

The announcement followed long negotiations with Britain, France and Spain and presaged a long-range program of limited relief, especially for women and children, in unoccupied France and Spain, subject to cooperation of those countries and their future relations with the axis powers.

Spain's continued non-belligerency was understood to be one of the chief requirements in connection with the relief plans for that country.

Berlin Calls Roosevelt Message "Unscrupulous"

BY ALVIN J. STEINKOPF

Berlin, Jan. 8, (AP)— President Roosevelt's Monday message to congress was assailed for "unscrupulousness and untruthfulness" in a concerted German press outpouring tonight.

Leading the chorus was the well-informed Boersen Zeitung. Its editorial was by Karl Maegerle, often an interpretor of what is in the mind of the German foreign office staff.

It said the United States president's report on the state of the union, with its proposals for increased aid to Great Britain, was "unique in American history for its untruthfulness, for its unscrupulousness, unique for its twisting of history and for the hypocritical manner in which it attempted to picture the totalitarian states as aggressors and arch-enemies of all the Americas."

The rest of the press fell into the same pattern (and the German radio quoted the Deutsche Diplomatisch Politische Korrespondenz, close to the foreign office, as saying Mr. Roosevelt delivered a "violent tirade" which "created a condition for producing and stimulating by all means the enmity of the axis powers which, until today, did not exist.")

The Boersen Zeitung asserted Mr. Roosevelt's contention that Germany's idea of international law is one-sided "is unbecoming in a man who has shown by word and deed that he and the men behind him attach no importance to a peace of honor and justice."

Many of the newspapers reiterated that Britain is doomed and that American help will come too late. The Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung in a headline labelled the message: "Eccentric arguments for a lost cause."

No comprehensive summary of the message itself has yet appeared in the German press.

DOTSCH'S JOB GETS IN JAM ON PATRONAGE

APPOINTEES LISTED BY DICKINSON NOT CONSIDERED

Lansing, Jan. 8 (AP)—Three former senators whom Governor Van Wagoner appointed to key state positions received "courtesy" confirmations from the senate today, but the selection of a fourth member, James D. Dotsch, of Garden, to the liquor control commission remained locked in a patronage log-jam.

The confirmation of Felix H. H. Flynn, Cadillac Republican, to the Michigan unemployment compensation commission; David W. Martin, Flint Democrat, to the state labor and industry commission; and Mark Crawford, Coldwater Democrat, to the state fair board, was made in open session.

Want Cummins Kept

Senator Joseph A. Baldwin, Republican, Albion, chairman of the committee on senate business which recommended the three confirmations, said "we wanted to confirm Jimmy Dotsch as a former senator, too, but we felt that it should be held up until Van Wagoner appoints him to succeed Murl H. Defore, of Charlotte, instead of Alva M. Cummins, of Lansing." Defoe is a Republican, Cummins a Democrat.

Baldwin said he, Senator D. Hale Brake, Republican, Stanton, and Earl W. Munshaw, Grand Rapids, Republican floor leader, had asked Van Wagoner to make that shift in order to keep Cummins, "an experienced man," on the commission during the change in administrations.

The request to Van Wagoner was made at a morning conference at which Van Wagoner asked the Republican majority to recognize his privilege of appointing key officials.

Salary in Advance

The governor said the senate trio asked him to make several shifts in the terms and positions to which he had appointed them, but did not request him to withdraw any selections.

Baldwin said Dotsch's confirmation would have been routine had Van Wagoner made the requested shift prior to this afternoon's session.

The fate of the remainder of the long list of Van Wagoner appointments remained in doubt, but they agreed little consideration was being given to a "rival" list submitted by former Governor before he left office.

Both the house and senate adopted without debate a concurrent resolution permitting their members to draw their $3 a day solary in advance at the rate of $50 a week for 20 weeks.

Baldwin's committee on elections reported to the floor of the senate without change a bill to eliminate primaries in non-parti-

BALKAN PUZZLE STILL UNSOLVED

Movement of Germans In Rumania May Be Mere Smokescreen

(By The Associated Press)

Sofia, Bulgaria, Jan. 8—Premier Bogdan Philoff, just back from a visit to Vienna "for his health," was reliably reported tonight to have called on King Boris III after a meeting with cabinet ministers at the winter resort of Cham-Kouria, 50 miles from Sofia.

Officials who refused even to confirm that the cabinet meeting had taken place discounted reports heard in Belgrade that Philoff had rejected a German request for passage of troops through Bulgaria and was relying on Soviet Russia to bolster Bulgarian resistance.

Speculation in other Balkan capitals that German forces now concentrated and concentrating in Rumania may enter Bulgaria was generally discounted here. It was said that neither the weather nor Soviet Russia seemed favorable.

Philoff's Vienna trip, ostensibly to consult an eminent physician, had given diplomatic observers to believe that he actually went there to learn the meaning of great German troop movements as well as what Germany expected of Bulgaria.

Some Sofia observers held that Germany's Balkan troop movements—unconcealed massing of perhaps 600,000 troops in Rumania—might be only a smokescreen to mask preparations for a smash at Britain or Gibraltar.

OPINION SOUGHT ON LABOR LAW

Rushton Asked to Rule On Strike Notices In Defense Work

Lansing, Jan. 8 (AP)—The Michigan labor mediation board today asked Attorney General Herbert J. Rushton for an opinion on whether 30-day notices should be required of employes in all national defense industries before they can legally strike.

The board members, A. E. Raab, A. C. Lappin and Walter Moers, said they believed industries engaged in defense production should come under a provision of the labor mediation law which requires a 30-day strike notice at "hospitals, public utilities or any other industry affected with a public interest."

Only five-day notices are required of defense industries at present. The board said labor disputes affecting more than 15 industries doing national defense work are unsettled.

Failure of the mediation board to reach settlement in defense industries, if they were held within the purview of the 30-day notice act, would require the governor to name a special commission to negotiate.

Moers pointed out that if the attorney general agreed with the board on the law, the governor might be asked to name one special commission to deal with all disputes involving defense industries.

In that case, Moers said, the board would have to determine how far reaching the designation of defense industries should be, since businesses merely selling goods to firms working on defense orders conceivably could be included in that classification.

Hearing In McKay Mail Fraud Charge Will Start Jan. 28

Detroit, Jan. 8, (AP)—Frank D. McKay and eleven other defendants will go on trial January 28 on federal charges of mail fraud in connection with state liquor purchases, Federal Judge Arthur F. Lederle said today.

McKay, Republican national committeeman and former state treasurer, was indicted in November by a federal grand jury. Other prominent defendants in the liquor fraud case are William H. McKeighan, former mayor of Flint, and Fred C. Ehrmann, secretary of the state liquor control commission and its former purchasing agent.

The indictment, one of three naming McKay, charged a $500,000 "shakedown" of distilleries doing business with the state.

Washington, Jan. 8, (AP)—Reelection of its four Republican members today put the powerful house rules committee in position to carry out its task of expediting legislation.

The minority members reelected were Representatives Fish of New York; Allen of Illinois; Michener of Michigan and Halleck of Indiana.

PUBLIC DEBT WILL EXCEED 58 BILLIONS

ADDITIONAL FUNDS TO BE REQUESTED TO AID BRITAIN

By Richard L. Turner

Washington, Jan. 8. (AP)—President Roosevelt sent congress a $17,485,000,000 budget today, a record for peacetime, and served notice that he would ask still further funds to throw America's great industrial machine into the battle against the axis powers.

During the fiscal year which begins next June, he proposed that $10,811,324,000 be spent for the United States armaments program. That figure and the budget's total, as well, are to be further increased by the cost of war supplies sent to England under his lease-lend plan.

Home Needs Pared

By comparison, the budget for the current year ending next June, as revised today, calls for total expenditures of $13,202,370,970, with $6,463,823,000 for defense. In the year which closed last June, expenditures totaled $8,998,189,706, of which the defense item was $1,579,905,425.

Aside from defense, the principal items of the new budget were: $502,884,000 for public works, as compared with $570,002,000 this year; $1,061,561,700 for "aids to agriculture," compared with $1,106,891,800; and $1,034,139,700 for work relief as compared with $1,501,915,000.

Deficit Sets Record

Against the tentative total of $17,485,528,049, Mr. Roosevelt placed estimated government revenues of $8,275,435,000, noting that the sum was sufficient to cover non-defense items and national defense outlays at the rate of a few years ago.

As presented, the figures left a prospective deficit of $9,210,093,049 the largest of the Roosevelt period But how close that would come to the ultimate figure, the president himself was frankly in doubt, because the cost of aid to England had still to be added, and revenue gains from a new tax bill increasing the rates had still to be added.

Tentatively, it was estimated that the public debt would rise from the present figure of $45,000,000,000 to $58,367,065,056 on June 30, 1942.

No War Profiteers

The president asked emphatically for the passage of a new tax measure, together with new levies designed to prevent anyone from making an "abnormal net profit" from the defense program. Rising tax rate levies on a rising national income could, he suggested, provide greatly increased revenues. He estimated national income for the fiscal year at $87,000,000,000—higher than 1929.

Despite the size of the figures it contained, the budget was received in congress with an almost

President Outlines Spending Over 25 Billion In 3 Years

Washington, Jan. 8, (AP)—Salient passages of the president's budget message to congress today:

Carrying out the mandate of the people, the government has embarked on a program for the total defense of our democracy. This means warships, freighters, tanks, planes and guns to protect us against aggression; and jobs, health, and security to strengthen the bulwarks of democracy.

This program, including defense and non-defense activities, will cost about 17.5 billions of dollars (for the year). For the same period, we expect the largest national income for the nation as a whole and also the largest tax receipts.

Sixty-two per cent of the expenditures proposed in this budget are for national defense. No one can predict the ultimate cost. x x

We shall actually expend more than 25 billion dollars for defense within a 3-year period. This can be accomplished, but only if management, labor, and consumers cooperate to the utmost.

The increased military expenditures permit a substantial reduction in non-defense expenditures, particularly for those activities which are made less necessary by improved economic conditions.

For the items subject to administrative rather than legislative action, I have been able to reduce expenditures by 600 million dollars, or 15 per cent.

I recommend the continuance in full measure of the social-security programs. x x x Furthermore, I deem it vital that the congress give consideration to the niclusion in the old-age and survivors insurance system and the unemployment compensation system of workers not now covered.

I estimate a reduction of 45 million dollars in the agricultural programs. We are definitely maintaining the principles of parity and soil conservation.

The revenue for the fiscal year of 1942 is expected to be 9 billion dollars. It will exceed the revenue collected in the fiscal year 1940—the last year before the start of the present defense program—by 3 billion dollars.

A start should be made this year to meet a larger percentage of defense payments from current tax receipts. The additional tax measures should be based on the principle of ability to pay.

to authorize the building of more destroyers.

More Officers Shifted

The prospective request for more submarine chasers led to speculation in some quarters, however, that some craft of that kind might be made available to Great Britain. The navy now has 53 chasers under construction.

The changes in the fleet, Knox said, would be effective February 1, and would be accompanied by the shifting of stations of many flag officers.

The Atlantic fleet will be commanded by Rear Admiral Ernest J. King, who heads the present patrol force, United States fleet, now operating in the Atlantic. Knox termed the change "a rearrangement which merely fits the facts" and said that the Atlantic force had been built up until it consists now of about 125 ships of various types.

The Asiatic fleet will remain under the command of Admrial Thomas C. Hart and Knox added that no increase in it was contemplated at present.

The Pacific fleet will consist of the battle force, the scouting force and the base force now operating that ocean.

Meat Ration Cut In England Again

more meat for a week or two," he demanded at a luncheon audience, "or would you rather have Bardia?—the Italian Libyan base captured by the British last Sunday.

Contributing to the shortage, it was understood, were transportation difficulties and the fact that farmers are officially encouraged to keep reserves of meat on the hoof during the winter. The necessity of feeding tens of thousands of Italian prisoners in Africa also was cited as a factor.

Many families in the last weekend had to go into stocks of tinned food. One Associated Press employe reported last night's supply of meat at his home for a family of seven was three small sausages.

The position was summed up officially as being immediately difficult but—in Lord Woolton's words—showing every sign of improving after "a fortnight of flexibility."

The weekly meat ration has been cut successively since mid-December from the equivalent of 47 cents worth a person.

Military Genius, Boy Scout Organizer, Lord Baden-Powell, 83, Dies In Africa

Nairobi, Kenya Colony, Jan. 8 (AP)—Lord Baden-Powell—a military genius who devoted much of his life to a peace organization, the Boy Scouth—will be buried tomorrow on a sunny slope of Mt. Kenya deep in the Africa he loved.

The man who won British acclaim as the defender of Mafeking in the Boer War died today at his home in Nyeri from a heart ailment. He was 83.

At the outbreak of the Boer war in 1899, Baden-Powell was in command at Mafeking, a sultry little town of corrugated iron building in Bechuanaland.

With a force far superior to Baden-Powell's band of irregulars, the Boers attacked Mafeking immediately.

The Boers cut the water supply of the veldt village. Baden-Powell dug wells . . . They brought up heavy guns and poured shells on the defenders. Baden-Powell invented a system of warning when the big shells were on their way . . , Possessing only two little seven-pounders, it was useless for the irregulars to fire back. Baden-Powell countered with a series of daring bayonet sorties.

For seven months this kept up and then help came. The Boers were driven away. The rescuers found Baden-Powell organizing a regular system on recreation in the baked and shelled town.

Baden-Powell became a world hero.

He remained in Africa, lending his talents for organizing to forming the South African constabulary. Next he was inspector general of cavalry for Great Britain. In 1910 he retired.

Always interested in boys and girls, the outdoors and organizing youth in groups for instruction, he commenced a work that eventually led to the Boy Scouts and formation of the Girl Scouts.

From little groups in Britain, the movement spread.

Baden-Powell served as a British intelligence officer in the World War.

Pursuit Plane Dives 620 Miles An Hour In Army Test Trip

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 8 (AP)—Diving an Airacobra interceptor pursuit plane in a routine army test today, Lieut. Andrew C. McDonough (USNR) maintained a speed of 620 miles an hour while plunging 21,000 feet.

Officials of the Bell Aircraft Corporation declined to claim a "record of any kind" for the dive, made over Buffalo airport, which surpassed the record of 575 miles an hour plus established just two years ago by H. Lloyd Child, Curtiss-Wright chief test pilot, diving a now obsolete Curtiss Hawk 75 for the French army.

McDonough's dive was part of the United States army's required test on speeds in dives. For acceptance, a plane must attain an indicated air speed of 523 miles an hour while plummeting toward the earth.

A double set of instruments confirmed the 620-mile speed notched on McDonough's cockpit indicator.

The dive was made with a production ship, carrying full military load, which includes a 37-milli-meter cannon, two .30 and two .50-calibre machine guns.

The Airacobra, $60,000,000 worth of which are on order for Uncle Sam and Great Britain, can attain a straight level speed which the army air corps admits is "in excess of 400 miles an hour."

Tavern Man Sent To Prison In $300 Fake Bribery Case

Cassopolis, Mich., Jan. 8, (AP)—Circuit Judge Glenn E. Warner today sentenced Gordon Miller, 34, Sister Lakes tavern operator, to 14 months to ten years in Southern Michigan prison for obtaining money under false pretenses.

Miller was convicted Monday on a charge of receiving $300 from Maurice Vancervelde, Sumnerville tavern operator, to obtain a liquor license for him from the state liquor control commission. Vandervelde signed a warrant for Miller when the license failed to materialize.

Before sentencing Miller, the judge censured Vandervelde for attempting to bribe the liquor commission.

Proposal Is Made To Cancel All 1942 Automobile Models

New York, Jan. 8. (AP)—J. W. Frazier, president of Willys-Overland Motors, Inc., suggested to the Automobile Manufacturers association today that "all national automobile shows be eliminated during the period of our national emergency and that 1941 models carry into 1942."

His request, he said, was "in response to President Roosevelt's appeal to the automobile industry to bend every effort in support of the national defense program."

said he got away a jump ahead of their storming forces Sunday night, along with two other black shirt division commanders.

The British, who say 94,000 Italians have been captured, killed or wounded since their offensive began December 9, declare they stand a chance of adding another 30,000 at Tobruk. This figure on the number of its defenders was a scale down from the previous estimate of 50,000.

Jury Is Selected, Kept Confined, In Wayne Graft Case

Detroit, Jan. 8, (AP)—A tentative jury of eight men and six women, selected at the first session of the Wayne county gambling-vice conspiracy trial, was placed in sheriff's custody tonight until reconvening of the case tomorrow morning.

The extraordinary step of confining a jury before it is finally chosen was ordered by Trial Judge Earl C. Pugsley of Hart because of "the importance of this case."

Jury selection was a laborious process marked by frequent challenges and attorneys refused to speculate on how many of the tentative 14 would finally remain.

Prominent among the 33 defendants are former Prosecutor Duncan C. McCrea and former Sheriff Thomas Wilcox.

LaGuardia Hinting At Government Job

New York, Jan. 8 (AP)—Mayor F. H. La Guardia intimated today that he might not complete his term ending December 31 and said he would naturally "respond to any call or assignment that would be given" if the country were confronted with an emergency. There have been reports he would accept a full-time federal post.

PUBLIC DEBT WILL EXCEED 58 BILLIONS

surprising equanimity. It had, of course, been known for months that the totals would run to unprecedented proportions. Administration leaders were queck to praise the recommendations, while the most emphatic criticism came, not from the balanced-budget group, but from those critical of the president's foreign policy.

Vandenberg Staggered

Thus, Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.), a leading opponent of the lease-lend plan, said the budget tables would "wake up American taxpayers to the cost of fighting another European war," and Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) observed that his digestion was not good enough to "take this budget down at one gulp."

At the other end of the capitol, Rep. Treadway of Massachusetts, ranking Republican member of the ways and means committee, proposed the appointment of a bipartisan house-senate committee to coordinate federal expenditures and revenues. It was impossible to balance the budget now, he said, but congress should remember "that we are treading a dangerous path which, as the president once said, leads inevitably to national bankruptcy."

The message with which Mr. Roosevelt accompanied the budget began with an emphatic restatement of what he conceives to be the necessity of the times—a "program for total defense of our democracy," with "industrial capacity stepped up" to a point at which it can provide the essential ships, tanks, planes and other war supplies.

Estimate Tentative

"It is dangerous to prepare for a little defense," he said. "It is safe only to prepare for total defense. * * * A wry turn of fate places this defense burden upon the backs of a peace-loving people."

The proposed national defense expenditures, he said, were part of a tentative $28,000,000,000 program, but he warned that "no one can predict the ultimate cost of a program that is still in development." and that "when we recall the staggering changes in the world situation in the last six months, we realize how tentative all present estimates must be."

An accompanying table broke the $28,000,000,000 down into: $13,704,000,000 for the army, to train and maintain a force increasing from 250,000 in June, 1940, to 1,400,000 in 1942, and provide it with modern equipment; $11,587,000,000 for the navy, to continue the construction of an "over-all" navy and double its personnel; $1,902,000,000 for expanding America's industrial capacity and $1,287,000,000 for other defense purposes.

Labor Must Cooperate

"Expenditures under the defense program during the last six months amount to $1,750,000,000," the president said. "This is two and one-half times the amount spent for national defense in the same period of the fiscal year 1940. However, these expenditures understate the progress already made. In six months, contracts and orders for ten billion dollars have been placed. This means that in addition to present defense production, all over the country more factories, large and small are getting ready rapidly to increase production. Once these preparations have been completed actual deliveries and expenditures will be greatly accelerated.

"I expect actual expenditure to be stepped up to four and three-quarter billion dollars in the six months ending June, 1941, and to almost eleven billion dollars in the fiscal year 1942. We shall actually spend more than 25 billion dollars for defense within a three-year period. This can be accomplished but only if management, labor and consumers cooperate to the utmost."

The president said that 15 per cent had been lopped off the estimates for non-defense items, recommended the continuance of social security programs "in full measure," declared that an increased domestic market for farm commodities, only partly offset by curtailment of foreign buying, would permit a $45,000,000 cut in the cost of the agricultural relief program, called for the deferment of public works construction which would interfere with the defense program by drawing men and materials away, and estimated that $995,000,000, or $400,000,000 less than in the current year, would be sufficient for work relief.

As for taxes, he had this to say:

"A start should be made this year to meet a larger percentage of defense payments from current tax receipts. The additional tax measures should be based on the principle of ability to pay. Because it is the fixed policy of the government that no citizen should make any abnormal net profit out of national defense, I am not satisfied that existing laws are in this respect adequate.

"I hope that action toward these ends will be taken at this session of the congress.

"I see many ways in which our tax system can be improved without resort to restrictive tax levies. By adjustments in the existing laws the present rates of progressive taxation could be made fully effective, as I believe the congress intended."

While the borrowing involved in the budget will run the national dept to a point far above the present statutory limit of $49,000,000,000 on the total of government obligations outstanding, the president thought it was immaterial whether congress repealed or raised this limitation.

Screwy Names Are In Screwy News; Is Your Name Listed?

BY GLADWIN HILL

New York, Jan. 8 (AP)—A man named Hector Junglesleeve once remarked that names make news. In which case, there has been a lot of screwy news lately.

If you're perplexed about naming the baby, for instance, you might consider some of these novel tactics that have been advanced. A baby girl born in Uniontown, Pa., during a windstorm was named Wendie Dae. . . . Some triplets in Little Rock, Ark., were named "Gone," "With," and "Wind." . . . And a Boston college football coach let the two highest scorers in B. C.'s Sugar Bowl game choose the names for his new twin daughters. (The relatively unspectacular selections were "Helen" and 'Ann.")

Bear in mind, however, that no matter what name you choose, your work may not be permanent. A man went to the authorities in Detroit the other day to change his first name. It seemed that he had been born, the twelfth child in the family, when his father was 70. So he was named Finis.

You never can be sure that any name is safe from complications. J. P. Jensen sounds like an innocuous enough handle, but three residents of Springfield, Minn., discovered they all had that same name. To avoid spending all their time swapping letters with each other, they called an armistice, providing for three different versions—J. Peter, Jens P. and J. P.

Hollywood is still doing all right on trick monickers. An actress popped up out there the other day named "Gale Storm." . . . Possibly she was related to the motorist named Storm who, during a snowstorm in Stafford Springs, Conn., ran into a motorist named Snow. . . . But down in Atlanta, things seems to work out the opposite way. The central figure in an auto accident there was a man named Safety First Hill.

No matter how unusual your name is, you can't be sure you won't run into it somewhere. There was great postal confusion when a traveling salesman visited Bowling Green, Ky., recently, because his name was Bowling Green. . . . When Wilfred Creteau of Laconia, N. H., advertised a room for rent, the first applicant was a man named Wilfred Creteau. . . . And a motorist going through South Carolina pulled up in astonishment at a sign pointing to the towns of Elliott, Lamar and Darlington, because his name was Elliott Lamar Darlington.

And needless to say, if your name is Suit, it's simpler to avoid litigation. In Trenton, N. J., the other day a Mr. Suit filed a suit against a Mrs. Suit.

Arrival Of Leahy Is Notable Event For Vichy Capital

BY ROBERT OKIN

Vichy, France, Jan. 8. (AP)—Admiral William D. Leahy formally began his duties as U. S. ambassador to France today and close observers of French politics expressed the opinion that his appearance on the Vichy scene was one of the most important recent events here.

So far there has been nothing concrete to back up this belief, but it was considered by some that the mere arrival of Admiral Leahy, who presented his credentials and a personal letter from President Roosevelt to Chief of State Marshal Petain today, has had a moral effect (here four words were censored).

Observers pointed out that French policy since the armistice has been based on the belief that Germany would win the war and that France must make peace with the axis-projected "new order in Europe," but many observers believe that the future of England is far less black than when the French policy of collaboration in the new Europe was evolved.

Vitamins In Battle; One Damages Another

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Editor)

New York, Jan. 8.—Nutrition experts have discovered that one wholesome vitamin food can antagonize and possibly destroy another equally necessary vitamin.

The discovery, however, exonerates cod liver oil of a suspicion that it contains a mysterious compound which can damage the hearts of young animals.

Although this proof was confined to farm livestock, fed on cod liver oil, the explanation of the mystery is interesting to humans for two reasons:

One of man's commonest remedies is freed from doubts, and what happened to the animals is a good object lesson for those persons who like to fix up their own vitamin menus without critical study of all the effects.

The vitamins involved are A and D, in cod liver oil, and, on the other side, vitamin E, which is widely distributed in numerous foodstuffs. The diet detective story about them began several years ago at Cornell university.

Heart injuries were found in Cornell's animal nutrition laboratory in young domestic animals fed on large amounts of cod liver oil.

Cod liver oil concentrates, however, when fed to the same animals, caused no heart troubles. The concentrates contained virtually all the vitamins, but little of the other ingredients in the oil.

This left a puzzle which could not be solved by the hunt for some possibly injurious substance in the oil, because no such compound was found in long, careful search. The solution had to wait for discovery of more scientific knowledge. This came from an unexpected direction.

About this time, science began a series of rapid discoveries about vitamin E. At first it was merely the fertility, or reproduction, vitamin, and everyone seemed to have enough of it.

As time went on, E proved vital also for nerve tone, and its lack caused muscular damage. This lack also resulted in heart injuries in animals deprived of E.

An experiment which appeared to clear up the cod liver oil mystery was done by Steward G. Morris of the U. S. department of agriculture. He fed animals on the heart-damaging cod liver oil ration. Then he kept them from getting bad hearts by merely adding extra amounts of vitamin E to their feed.

Somehow the oil had been choking off the other vitamin. Two explanations have been advanced. One is that the oil in large volumes swept enough of the vitamin E out of the body before the vitamin could be absorbed to cause an E deficiency.

A simpler explanation is that rations for animals are often stored for a time. Farm stock is not accustomed to getting its food fresh from the baker, the butcher and the kitchen stove.

During this storage, the oil may be active in destroying some of the vitamin E present in the feed. Apparently the antagonism of the vitamin substances occurred only under exceptional circumstances, since no heart injury was found in the usual cod liver oil diets.

Human beings never receive the oil under the conditions of the animal experiments. The editor of the Journal of the American Medical associations says there appears to be no evidence that cod liver oil, in the dosage in which it is normally given, is an agent in producing heart disease in man.

Dr. J. Kloster of Riks hospital, Oslo, talking before the Norwegian Pediatric society, described a number of active, seventy-year-old Norwegian fishermen who had habitually drunk a beer glass full of cod liver oil daily for years without showing any detectable heart injury.

Welfare Item Omitted

In the house, Rep. John P. Espie, Republican, Eagle, chairman of the ways and means committee, introduced the administration's $1,984,600 deficiency and supplemental appropriations bill.

It was more than $1,000,000 below the sum recommended by former Budget Director Gus T. Hartman, eliminating a million dollar item for welfare.

Espie's measure was drafted by the new budget director, Leo J. Nowicki, who declared Hartman overlooked the fact that relief case loads were declining and that the state department of social welfare had an $824,000 reserve obtained through economies to meet its expected deficit.

The Espie bill also eliminated $60,000 for the construction of a state health department office building recommended by Hartman, but included $45,000 to add 200 beds to the Ypsilanti State hospital, which Hartman had deferred to the next budget bill.

Senator Don Vanderwerp, Republican, Fremont, chairman of the senate finance committee, introduced Hartman's recommendations in the senate without change.

DEMOCRATS CAN'T KICK

Lansing, Jan. 8, (AP)—Republicans in the house of representatives grabbed most of its choice standing committee assignments today, but members of the Democrtic minority said they felt they had received all they could expect and had been treated fairly.

Each new bill and resolution must pass through at least one of the 69 standing committees appointed by Speaker Howard Nugent. Chairmanships of the more important committees mostly were left with the men who held them in the 1939 session.

Democrats salvaged 13 chairmanships, and received control of four committees.

Nugent reappointed Rep. Walter G. Herrick, Hubbardston, chairman of the labor committee; Rep. John P. Espie, Eagle, chairman of the ways and means commitee; Rep. Alexander M. MacKay, West Branch, chairman of the conservation committee; Rep. Nelson A. Miles, Holland, chairman of the judiciary committee, and Rep. Edson V. Root, Sr., Paw Paw, chairman of the committee on elections. All are Republicans.

Hohenzollern Scion To Help Clean Up Debris In England

An Eastern Canadian Port, Jan. 8 (AP)—Prince Friedrich Georg Hohenzollern, 29, fourth son of the former crown prince of Germany, was reported tonight to have been one of 250 to 300 interned aliens who sailed from this port to help clean up air raid debris in Britain.

Before the war the kaiser's grandson was a social lion in London, where he was employed in a bank. In 1938 he denied rumors linking his name with that of the American heiress Barbara Hutton, the Countess Haugwitz-Reventlow.

Reports from Berlin in November 1939, said he had been interned in Scotland at the start of the war and his internment was confirmed by British authorities last August. His reported transfer to Canada was surrounded with secrecy.

Unrest In Italy; Duce Now Called Finito Mussolini

New York, Jan. 8. (AP)—Thomas J. Smith, a Philadelphia artist reported on his return from Rome today that there was great unrest in Italy and that the common joke among Italians was to refer to Benito Mussolini as "Finito" Mussolini.

"Finito" is the Italian word for "finished."

Smith and 148 other passengers were aboard the Portuguese liner Carvalho Araujo which left Lisbon Dec. 27. He had been studying in Italy for seven years.

"Most of the people in Italy are resigned to the fact that the army won't win," he said. "They're also wondering what's happened to their navy."

Army Tank Arsenal At Mt. Clemens To Cost 20 Millions

Mt. Clemens, Mich., Jan. 8, (AP)—In the presence of high-ranking army officers and company officials, an American flag was raised ceremoniously today over the tank arsenal which Chrysler corporation is building for the army in Macomb county.

Maj.-Gen. E. B. Gregory, quartermaster general of the army, participated in the ceremony with a color guard from Fort Wayne. President K. T. Keller headed the company delegation.

The plant, costing $20,000,000, is expected to begin production next fall at the rate of five tanks per day per shift.

Lansing Lawmakers To Curb Powers Of Little Legislature

Lansing, Jan. 8. (AP)—The house ways and means committee voted tonight to release to the floor tomorrow the Espie bill which would abolish the so-called little legislature's power to allocate unappropriated funds and balances in the state general fund.

The little legislature, more properly known as the emergency appropriations commission, would be limited to the expenditure of funds appropriated to it.

CIVIL SERVICE RATINGS MADE

Alvar Jackson, Hubert McMonagle High On Examinations

Alvar Jackson, fireman-operator in the city's employ now, was listed first on a fireman-operator civil service examination and Hubert McGonagle, 1517 Tenth avenue south was high on a police patrolman examination according to ratings made at a meeting of the city civil service commission last night.

The fireman-operator examination was a "promotional and original" examination, which means that city employes were given precedence over others in the ratings. The patrolman examination was an "original" examination, which brought rankings strictly in accordance with grades made in examinations.

Seventeen were qualified in the fireman-operator quiz and 11 in the patrolmen's. Eligible lists established by the exams are effective for six months, but may be extended by the commission for a total of two years.

Letters notifying those certified will be mailed today.

DRAFT TAKES 101 MORE MEN

Last Group of Month Left Last Night for Training

The Chicago & Northwestern train left here last night at 8:50, carrying with it 101 more Upper Peninsula youths, on their way for a year's military training in the United States army. The conscriptees, traveling in special cars, will stop at Fort Sheridan, near Chicago, where they will be issued uniforms and assigned to permanent camps for training in the national defense program.

Out of the 123 selectees examined, yesterday in the basement of St. Joseph's church, 22 were rejected.

LEADS DELTA GROUP

Joseph R. Ranguette, of Schaffer, one of the first eight men to volunteer in Delta county, was made leader of the 18 Delta men who left for Fort Sheridan Tuesday night. He was ready for the first induction, when the county's quota was only four men, but was not called.

A concert was given at the station by the Michigan Music project military band, WPA, Cecil Collins directing.

Those who left last night are:

HE TOOK IT HARD

Then there was the case of that 100 per cent American who went through all the procedures necessary for induction into the army, only to be rejected in the strict physical examination administered by the traveling army induction board in Escanaba.

He became a little bitter about it and after a couple of stimulating drinks went back to induction headquarters where he proclaimed himself ready to clean up on any one who thought he wasn't man enough for the service. Police were called. They took him in charge and saw that he got on a train for home.

On the other hand, police had to assist in rounding up two other inductees. But it seems that they had misunderstood instructions. They thought they had been refused, but hadn't.

TAX PERCENTAGE SHOWS INCREASE

Rate of Payment Better, But Total Amounts Are Smaller

Tax collection percentages in Escanaba for 1940 are running slightly ahead of those for 1939, although, with lower levies, total collections are running slightly lower according to figures compiled yesterday.

On city taxes as of Dec. 31, 1939, the sum of $102,469.40 had been collected on a levy of $120,925.61 for a percentage of 84.7, while as of Dec. 31, 1940, $100,634.40 had been collected on a levy of $116,061 for a percentage of 86.7.

On the county and school taxes, $34,303.32 had been collected as of Decemeber 31, 1939 on a levy of $157,710 for a percentage of 21.5, and $33,887.75 had been collected as of Dec. 31, 1940, on a levy of $152,575 for a percentage of 22.2.

The first eight days of the new year, up to yesterday, brought a healthy run of business totaling $22,297.67 this year to bring payments to date to $56,185.42 on county and school taxes. This compared with a rush at the opening of last year which brought payments up to $58,290.46 as of Jan. 8, 1940.

By January 8 a year ago, payments of city taxes had reached $103,166.75 and by that date this year the total was $101,337.20.

Aggregate collections up to Jan. 8, 1941 were $157,522.62 as compared with $161,457.21 on the same date last year.

City taxes are now subject to penalties, but county and school taxes may be paid until the middle of February without penalty, according to recent city council action extending the time a month.

Michigan Mirror

Doings About Capitol

Lansing — Confronted with a state legislature that is not subservient to his command, Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner, the third Democrat to occupy the state executive office in ten years, has undertaken a challenging task to "make democracy work" in Michigan.

Not mere pious words are these, as expressed in his inaugural address.

Critical days of 1941 demand a closely coordinated effort for national defense. And national defense, like democracy itself, has a way of beginning at home. It requires doing, not talking, to get things done.

In his emphasis on "making democracy live in America" by doing something about it in Michigan, the new governor served effective notice on the Republican majority in the senate and house, as well as the Republican officeholders at the Statehouse, that he expects their co-operation in making state government responsive to popular needs.

Bi-Partisan Control

Today's situation at Lansing is extraordinary in several respects.

It is thoroughly bi-partisan. While the Democrats elected a governor, lieutenant governor, and state treasurer, the Republicans retained majority control of both houses of the legislature, elected an attorney general and re-elected a secretary of state and auditor general.

Responsibility is divided whereby each party may raise the hue and cry that the other is responsible for failure of accomplishment.

Phrased in more familiar language, the door is wide open for political buck-passing!

To make democracy work under these circumstances is a Herculean assigment, and it will take all the diplomatic skill of the practical-minded Van Wagoner to achieve even a moderate success.

"Men without jobs, children on crutches don't care for party labels, "he cautioned in an appeal for "unity of will, unity of purpose, unity of administration."

The role of a governor battling against a selfish partisanship is one to inspire popular sympathy for Van Wagoner. Therein lies a peril to the Republican leadership, as future developments may reveal.

Four-Point Program

In outlining his ideas about how a democracy should function, the governor presented a four-point platform:

First, "we must do our part in the national defense program."

Because of a previously voiced lack of sympathy for the illegal sit-down strikes of 1937 (declared illegal by the United States supreme court), Van Wagoner may be expected to discourage hastily-conceived strikes in Michigan plants where national defense awards are centered.

"It is the duty of state government and every citizen of the state," he said, "to speed this important work and to co-operate with the federal government so that the defense program may proceed unhampered and unmolested."

He praised labor and management for working more closely together in effective national teamwork.

Second, "we must never lose sight of the real things we are building to defend our traditional constitutional rights."

What are these traditional rights? Freedom of speech, freedom of press, freedom of religion. Or in other words, freedom of a minority to criticize the majority; freedom of the individual to "believe and speak and write" as he chooses without fear.

As the governor expressed it, we should foster an "active spirit of tolerance for the beliefs of those who may happen to disagree with us."

Social Gains

Third objective of the Van Wagoner program is "to preserve and develop these social gains"—the right of labor to organize and to bargain collectively; the right of the farmer to a "fair share of our national income"; the right of the all to be "secure from the worst hazards of unemployment, old age and physical disability."

Governor Van Wagoner echoed the determination of President Roosevelt to withstand pressure "of many people" to curtail these newly granted rights on the assertion that they interfere with national defense.

Regardless of defense urgency, Van Wagoner indicates that he favors greater spending by the state government for old age pensions, unemployment compensation, crippled children benefits, state hospitals, and public schools.

The Fitzgerald-Dickinson administration emphasized home rule and a local financial responsibility. Van Wagoner's attitude would suggest a return to the conception of a strong centralized state government, and it may presage the opening wide of legislative purse-strings to the possible embarrassment of the executive office unless badly needed budget reforms are enacted during the 1941 session.

In his message to the legislature last Friday, Van Wagoner recommended more business-like collection and administration of state funds to prevent the re-occurrence of the $30,000,000 deficit left by his Democratic predecessor, Frank Murphy—only he didn't say so in that many words.

Honesty, Efficiency

Fourth objective of the Van Wagoner platform is this:

"The job of putting our own house in order."

Put your own interpretation on this sentence. The governor accompanied it with these words: "of seeing to it that our state government is honest and efficient and effective."

To many persons the fourth point has partisan implications, arising out of the federal grand jury indictments.

And yet the logic is irrefutable. The governor linked his fourth point to the general goal of making democracy work, and in a reference apparently to the dictator's way of regimented efficiency he observed:

"A democratic government in our world of today just can't afford to be inefficient or ineffective or corrupt."

"Election Is Over"

As Governor Van Wagoner well said, "The election is over . . . . Ours is the sacred duty of working together for the common good."

And therein is a reflection that democracy, if it is truly to be a democracy, must recognize the will of the majority.

Regardless of the Republican victories, the electorate chose Murray D. Van Wagoner to be governor of Michigan.

Likewise, Franklin D. Roosevelt, although not the choice of a majority in Michigan, was reelected to serve a third term as President of these United States.

Wendell L. Willkie in his Nov. 11 radio speech summed up the bipartisan problem in these words: "Let us not, therefore, fall into the partisan error of opposing things just for the sake of opposition. Ours must not be an opposition against—it must be an opposition for—an opposition for a strong America, a productive America. For only the productive can be strong and only the strong can be free."

PLAINTIFFS WIN IN TWO SUITS

Ballantyne Damage Suit Today Is Last for Circuit Jury

Judgments totaling $1,462.50 were entered in two jury collection suits yesterday, a jury was drawn for the last jury case, scheduled for today, a damage action, and the rest of the panel was dismissed.

Following the jury trial today, four non-jury civil suits and a chancery action are scheduled and indications are that court will adjourn by the end of the week.

Plaintiffs won both suits for judgment yesterday, Clarence Goodman of Gladstone winning a settlement of $513.50 in a suit against Mrs. Zowa Renard of Gladstone and Elmer Lundstrom of the Lundstrom Chevrolet Co., Manistique, getting a decision for collection of $949 against Jerry Reno, for logging and other equipment.

The Goodman-Renard jury got its case at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, was dismissed for the night at 6 o'clock and deliberated until 10 o'clock yesterday morning before bringing in a verdict for the plaintiff.

The Lundstrom judgment was made following motion of attorney for the plaintiff asking a directed verdict. The case was finished in mid-afternoon.

A suit of Ira Caswell of Crystal Falls against Edward Schwartz of Escanaba, asking damages for injuries received in an automobile accident last June 24 was settled out of court and stricken from the calendar.

Set for trial today is a $15,000 damage suit brought by Ena Ballantyne of Escanaba against Arthur and John Starrs, co-partners, doing business as the South Side Auto Exchange, and George McCrory, for injuries allegedly suffered in an auto accident last May 26 near Escanaba. McCrory is represented to have been driver of a car owned by the Starrs concern, which collided with the Ballantyne car.

Non-jury civil suits include one of William J. Early of Escanaba against Charles Johnston of Escanaba, seeking damages, and of the Delta Hardware Co. against the Baldwin township school district, seeking collection of an alleged $1,000 debt, accrued since Nov. 7, 1938.

This case was incorrectely noted in the Press previously as against the township of Baldwin, not the school district.

On the chancery schedule is a bill to set aside a deed, brought by Victoria Mroczkowski, administratrix of the estate of the late Stanley Mroczkowski against Mary Mroczkowski. This probably will be heard Friday.

Jurors in the Lundstrom case yesterday were James J. Ray, Einar Hansen, C. N. Wood, Martin Kaminen, Mary Huff, Robert Moore, Lewis Burdick, W. P. Croswell, Mrs. Elva Ladouceur, Henry Grenier, William Young and Ralph Gasman.

Jurors for today's case are Mable Moras, Goldie LaBresh, Henry Arnold, William Young, Martha Asp, C. N. Wood, James Ray, Mrs. Arthur Tourangeau, Charles Rabideau, Adama Budzis, Lillian Powers and Robert Moore.

Debaters to Meet Gladstone Tonight

The Escanaba high school negative debating team will meet Gladstone in the latter city this evening in the third contest of the year.

The Escanaba team will be composed of Darb Hess, Lenore Olson and Barbara Bartlett with Bill Carey as alternate.

Coach Bertrand Senne said yesterday that the locals will entertain Iron River Monday, January 13, instead of Friday night as originally scheduled. The change was made to avoid conflict with the Escanaba-Gladstone basketball game.

BUS DRIVERS GO TO SCHOOL

School Boards to Hold Special Instruction for Chauffeurs

Bus drivers of township school units of Delta county will be given a special school of instruction within the near future, it was announced yesterday following a meeting of the Association of School Board Members of the county held at the Kipling town hall Tuesday night.

The school will be held at Rapid River but the date has not yet been set. It will be conducted by a representative of the state police. The speaker will be George Gilbert, regional supervisor for the department of public instruction, of Marquette.

Mrs. Marion Berg of Marquette gave an interesting and informative talk, explaining the different phases of WPA work with particular stress on those dealing with schools.

C. P. Titus gave a report on the recent M. E. A. board of directors' meeting at which proposals for state aid was discussed. He also outlined a tentative program for the establishment of a county library with aid supplemented by the WPA.

The association went on record as favoring the resolution presented by Supt. J. C. McNamara in regard to the distribution of state aid money.

The following committees were named by the president for the ensuing year:

Legislative—William J. Miller, Masonville; Walter VanDeWeghe, Brampton; Carl S. Person, Masonville; David Phalen, Nahma, Einar Hansen, Ensign.

Business Management — Fred Mattson, Wells; Zola Beauchamp, Brampton; Hilding Olson, Ford River; L. E. Scott, Masonville.

Public Relations—C. R. Conger, Brampton; Libbie Michau, Cornell; Raymond Barron, Escanaba township.

Professional Problems—Supt. G. E. Weingartner, Maple Ridge; Supt. J. C. McNamara, Baldwin; Supt. W. C. Cameron, Masonville; Supt. Robert McKindles, Bark River; Mrs. Emma Follo, Fairbanks.

An interesting acrobatic program was given by Rose Marie and Pat Meyers, two visiting children in Brampton township.

Bernard Hamilton, Omer Tanguay and Walter VanDeWeghe were appointed delegates to the state convention.

An invitation to hold the next meeting at Nahma was accepted. Eleven townships were represented out of the fourteen.

A delicious lunch was served by the teachers of Brampton township.

DEFENSE WORK AIDS I. S. CO.

Good Year Anticipated Despite Less Building Activity

Several sizable orders for hemlock and dry kilned hardwood from contractors working on government defense projects have been filled by the I. Stephenson company, General Manager George N. Harder reported yesterday, and there are indications that the company will enjoy a good year.

Some 336 employees are working regular 45 hour weeks and on Monday last the plant's sawmill began a night shift which will be in operation for about four weeks.

Mr. Harder pointed out that although none of the orders they have had since the gigantic government program began some months ago, were directly from the government itself, the hemlock they have sold to contractors will be used in barracks and other army buildings and the dry kilned hardwood in truck bodies, tables, cots and similar types of equipment, so the company has indirectly benefited from the defense program

The I. Stephenson company's management does not expect the 1941 will see the building activity enjoyed during the past year, probably due in part to the general feeling of uncertainty about both national and international affairs. However, there is a feeling of optimism regarding the outlook in the lumbering industry itself for this year in spite of that.

The average number of employees on the company's payroll during 1940 was 309 and at the present time there is no indication that the average for the present year will be a marked departure from this figure. No increase in employment at the mill is in prospect now, however.

"MADE NO MISTAKE IN TRYING THE KruGon"

He Declares; Is No Longer Forced to Diet; Digestion Fine, Sleeps Good; Nerves Are Quiet; Able to Work Again

"I would advise everyone who suffers as I did to give this KruGon a trial," said Mr. William F. Greve, 621 Johnson St., Saginaw, Michigan. "I was so nervous I could not sleep at night, forced to get up at all hours and I was in constant misery. Constipation had allowed those intestinal poisons to have their effect generally. My digestion was badly upset and I could not eat anything it seemed that would agree with me. I was forced to diet carefully but in spite of what I ate I would suffer almost beyond endurance. Then I began to suffer with sharp, stabbing pains in my arms and shoulders and felt tired-out all the time until I was unable to do my work. It was so discouraging feeling as I did. Upon learning of KruGon I was persuaded to give it a trial but little expecting the good results it was to give me."

"I found KruGon to be just what I had been wanting all of the time," continued Mr. Greve. "From the first I began getting proper relief from constipation I began to show rapid improvement. Today I am able to work good again and really enjoy it. I rest and sleep well, nerves are calm and I give all credit to KruGon for feeling as I do now."

KruGon is sold by West End Drug Store, 1221 Ludington St., this city, and by the leading druggists in surrounding towns.

Rushton Leads Way

ATTY. H. J. RUSHTON, of Escanaba, attorney general of Michigan, on Tuesday at Lansing, laid the foundation for future political "horse trading" in state appointments, when he voted to confirm the appointment of Wendell L. Lund, of Escanaba, late Democratic congressional candidate, as secretary of the state administrative board.

Atty. General Rushton broke the political deadlock in the state board by his vote to confirm the appointment of a fellow townsman to an important post, made by Governor VanWagoner and while his act was hailed in the press of the state as a "break" in the Republican opposition to appointments made by the state's Democratic governor and still awaiting confirmation, it will likely be found, through later developments, that the state's attorney general, by his vote in this instance, was just "playing ball". Mr. Rushton is known as a too astute horse trader to take any action, in the absence of an "understanding", that will not get himself and his party some of the things they want, of greater importance than the secretaryship of the state administrative board, from the opposition.

And in addition, it could have been only a violently politically inspired purpose that Mr. Rushton would serve in refusing to vote for a fellow townsman. As Mr. Rushton said, in an interview following the meeting, he knows Wendell Lund to be honest, intelligent and capable and aside from the young man's personal political affilitations, his family in Escanaba is backed by a long Republican history.

In other words Mr. Rushton believed that Mr. Lund would make an efficient secretary for the state administrative board and by his vote displayed a lack of petty political animosity that should be as refreshing as it is important, in laying the foundation for a smoothly operating state government for the state of Michigan for the next two years.

Fight Over Smelt Looms

COMMERCIAL fishermen of Delta and Menominee counties met at Ingallston Tuesday evening and laid plans to secure legislation to prohibit the sale of smelt by sport fishermen who catch the silvery fish with dipnets during the spring spawning runs.

This is an interesting and surprising development. Five or six years ago, the commercial fishermen were cursing the smelt as a nuisance that was interfering with their net fishing operations. They laughed when the Wolverine Conservation association and other sportsmen promoted their jamborees to popularize the sport of smelt dipping and to create a greater consumer demand for this then-considered noxious fish.

But the sport fishermen held their jamborees, nevertheless. Smelt became publicized throughout the land, and folks began to fry them in deep fat, eat them and enjoy them. The Escanaba Smelt Jamboree committee greatly aided this campaign to create a market for the fish by sending souvenir boxes to Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions and other clubs throughout the middle west. Newspapers and radio stations also were sent gift boxes in appreciation of the valuable publicity they had given to Escanaba's smelt fishing.

As a result of the increased demand created by these promotion efforts, the spawning runs have been eagerly awaited by many unemployed and low-income persons as their opportunity to make some extra cash by dipping and selling the smelt to wholesale buyers. Some have been able to make as much as a hundred dollars during the spawning season, which lasts ordinarily about three weeks.

The commercial fishermen also have been benefited. Last winter, they went into the smelt fishing business in all seriousness. They secured special nets, and fished through the ice of Green bay from the first of February until the spawning run early in April. By controlling the daily catch of the smelt, they were able to command a reasonable price, averaging about three cents a pound during two months of fishing. Of course, smelt prices dropped to rock-bottom as soon as the huge harvest during the spawning run got under way.

The action taken by the commercial fishermen has an encouraging note. It is definite proof that the smelt, a comparatively new species of fish in the Lake Michigan waters, is a valuable natural resource.

The commercial fishermen are already beginning to worry over the possibility that the smelt will become as scarce as the herring and whitefish. They look upon smelt as a commercial species of fish, and contend that the fishing laws prohibiting sport fishermen from selling their catches should also apply to smelt.

The commercial fishermen are right in decrying the waste of tons of smelt abandoned on river banks after the market has become glutted. But perhaps, the solution that would be of much benefit to this smelt fishing region would be to find new markets for the fish.

The sight of hundreds of men, women and children dipping for smelt in the streams at night, the bonfires and merry-making combine to make the spring spawning runs a colorful affair. The valuable publicity gained therefrom at hardly any cost at all has helped much to build up a commercial smelt fishing industry.

Some way should be found to perpetuate the sport of smelt dipping and at the same time prevent the waste of the fish during the spawning runs.

Soil Erosion Menace

SOIL experts and conservationists refer indirectly to the possibility that the United States will be only barren hills and deserts by the year 2000, unless soil-saving practices are carried out to a greater extent than now pursued.

Reports of these experts as a result of observations and surveys may be somewhat unconsciously overdrawn due to their great desire to emphasize the importance of protecting natural resources, but even allowing for such deep interest and great enthusiasm, there is every evidence that the American people are the greatest land destroyers in the world.

Soil erosion annually takes 3,000,000,000 tons of soil from American farms and pastures. This means a direct monetary loss to farmers of not less than $400,000,000 every year, showing up in reduced yields, abandoned land, damaged highways and reservoirs, and irrigation ditches and culverts choked with erosional debris. It is becoming increasingly plain that the stoppage of this waste is a part of the Nation's defense program.

The use of land for agriculture is governed by a variety of social, economic and physical considerations. Conceivably, man can temper the operation of economic and sociological forces; but he cannot change the broad lay of the land or the wide diversity of weather. Thus nature imposes certain absolute limitations on the use of land.

The problem of soil erosion arises, basically, from man's failure or inability to adapt his use of the land to these physical limitations. This failure or inability is largely due to custom, or to economic and social pressure. But whatever the forces that compel or encourage it, use of the land without consideration of natural physical limitations is the immediate cause of soil erosion.

The problem of soil conservation was attacked only a few years ago by the Federal Government, but it was soon recognized that it could not be satisfactorily solved by this one force. Finding the task too vast and complex to be achieved in its entirety by a central governmeent agency, the aid of States and individuals was sought.

In nearly all the States the United States Department of Agriculture, in close cooperation with State agencies and individuals, is carrying on demonstration projects where measures of soil conservation are being applied directly to the land. In most of the States, too, CCC camps are engaged in actual erosion-prevention work on agricultural land.

This national program has already produced significant results. It has awakened thousands of farmers to the importance of conserving their soil. More than 50,000 farmers are cooperating actively by furnishing their lands for demonstration purposes, and some 25,000 other farmers have expressed a willingness to cooperate when funds and personnel are sufficient to begin work in their localities. Others, on their own initiative, are carrying out the practices they have seen demonstrated in the established project areas.

Conservation of soil in a land where there is an overproduction of farm products may not seem expedient to the superficial thinker, but with ever-increasing city populations, and the United States undoubtedly headed toward a day of self-sufficiency, conservationists may be wiser than they now seem.

REYNOLDS APPOINTED
(Marquette Mining Journal)

Reorganization of the crippled children's commission by Governor Van Wagoner returns to its membership Hugh Van de Walker, of Ypsilanti, former chairman, who resigned after an open break with Governor Dickinson over commission policies and financing.

His reappointment, together with the fact that the governor and other Democratic candidates during the course of their campaign, particularly in the upper peninsula, placed special stress on aid to crippled children, would seem to indicate that the new administration will watch the commission's work closely.

The appointment of M. K. Reynolds, of Marquette, brings to the commission a man who has had 13 years' experience in hospital administration and whose development of low-cost respirators for emergency use at the Northern Michigan Children's clinic during the poliomyelitis epidemic brought him national recognition.

Because of the devastating effect of polio on scores of upper peninsula children, it is likely the new commission will give special consideration to orthopedic work in this region and Mr. Reynolds, it can be expected, will be particularly active in this field.

While serving on the commission Reynolds will continue his "wooden lung" research, further perfecting the emergency type which proved so valuable at the Children's clinic and working toward development of a simplified respirator suitable for commercial production on a low-cost basis.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY PEARSON AND ALLEN

Washington — Confidential conversations have been taking place between the British and the State Department for some time aimed at getting Irish naval bases for the British.

In these conversations the British have wanted to place the United States in the unique role of either persuading or bulldozing Eire into handing over the bases. Just how the United States handled it, the British didn't much care.

But in talking to the State Department, the British pointed out that if they took Irish bases by force, there would be a burst of anti-British feeling from Irish all over the United States, particularly New England. This, the British felt, would be extremely bad just at a time when Britain particularly needs American support.

The British also pointed out to the State Department that they were placed in the unfortunate position of having to bring food to Ireland at the risk of having the ships sunk, and with no protective cooperation from the Irish whatsoever.

Therefore, the British Foreign Office urged the State Department to use its immediate and vigorous good offices with the Irish Government.

The State Department, however, has been eying the situation with no great enthusiasm. Informal soundings revealed that the Irish Minister in Washington, Robert Brennan, is vigorously opposed to British naval bases, and so is the Irish Government — at least until the recent bombing of Eire by German planes.

This has changed Irish public opinion considerably, and it is now possible that U. S. persuasion might get somewhere.

—JUST ANOTHER SNAKE—

Evie Robert (Mrs. Chip Robert), No. 1 Glamour Girl of the New Deal, has been telling this one on herself during the holidays.

One of her Christmas presents was a book entitled "Reptiles of the World," by Raymond L. Ditmars, curator of the New York Zoo. In the book was a card marked "From Just Another Snake." But there was no other means of identification.

"Oh, isn't that nice of Dr. Ditmars," Evie told her husband, "to send me a copy of his book?"

"Do you know Dr. Ditmars?" asked Mr. Robert, who used to be secretary of the Democratic National Committee.

"Of course I know him. And he remembers how much I like animals," replied Mrs. Robert, though she had to admit to herself that she had only met him once.

So all during the holidays Evie showed her snake book to friends and told them how thoughtful it was of Dr. Ditmars to send it to her. Once or twice, she thought she noticed a twinkle in Chip's eye when he said: "Evie, why don't you sit down and write Dr. Ditmars a nice letter and thank him for that book?"

Two weeks later, looking through her bills, Evie discovered one from the MacMillan Company for $1.98 for the book "Reptiles of the World." It had been ordered by her husband — "Just Another Snake."

—MISSING REPORT—

More than four months ago experts of the congressional monopoly investigating committee completed an exhaustive report on insurance companies. It was the product of two years steady work, including many weeks of public hearings, which cost thousands of dollars to the taxpayers.

The study contains many sensational disclosures regarding the business practices and inner financial operations of insurance moguls, and they have been moving heaven and earth to suppress it. So far they have succeeded.

Since the insurance report was submitted, the committee has published a score of reports on various industries, all without delay or interference. The insurance expose is the only one which has been stalled. What makes this so mysterious is the fact that, with one exception, all fifteen members of the committee have approved the publication of the report.

One man alone has been holding it up—the chairman of the committee, Senator Joseph O'Mahoney, Wyoming Democrat.

Why he is sitting on the lid is anyone's guess. During the campaign last year he said he was too busy running for re-election and hadn't time to read the report. But a number of other committee members, who did read and okay the document, also ran for re-election.

After election, O'Mahoney told newsmen he was taking the report with him to read during a long sea cruise. But he has been back from his trip several weeks — and there still is no sign when he will uncork the report.

Hollywood Column

Hollywood—Another of those "most photographed faces in America" has begun to go places in the movies, and if there are many more models like Elyse Knox the film makers may yet be repaid for their patient hiring of magazine cover and advertising cuties.

Until recently, the stories of models-in-movies were pretty much alike. A girl averaging $150 for from 10 to 15 hours posing each week in New York would come to Hollywood on a $50 stock contract. With plenty of new clothes in her luggage and lots of money in her purse, everything would be dandy for a few months.

Pretty soon she'd realize that she was doing a lot more work, earning less money, and wasn't getting anywhere in pictures. She was still a model, posing for fashion stills and leg art.

But Elyse Knox hasn't the bearing mannerisms or appearance of the average model. She has warmth, an interest in everything, and an easy way of moving. Her figure is oomphy not stately, and it used to do wonderful things to bathing suits. Being only 5 feet, 3 inches tall, though, she mostly posed for toothpaste and cigaret advertisements. Hats, too, and cosmetics. You've seen her hundreds of times.

Such qualities don't make an actress, necessarily. But it happens that Miss Knox has been in Hollywood more than a year, has just been given a new contract by RKO, and is playing her first real leading role—in a picture called "Show Business." Everyone is pleased with her.

She had a couple of so-called romantic leads during her servitude at 20th-Fox. But they were in pictures starring Jane Withers, and the romantic sub-plots didn't amount to much.

* * *

MR. Z. SAID: "HIRE HER"

The most typical thing about Elyse Knox as a model is the way she got into movies. Studio talent scouts, whose jobs depend on the ultimate success of people they selecet, seldom consider models. The beautiful gals in the ads almost always are offered screen tests by executives.

Miss Knox happened to be hired in New York to appear in some of those sappy, supercilious, saccharin fashion shorts which 20th-Fox persists in producing. Out here, Darryl Zanuck was viewing one of the films in a projection room. When Miss Knox appeared on the screen, Mr. Z. squinted critically and said to an assistant: "Hire her."

The order was flashed east. Elyse Knox was asked to grab a plane for Hollywood. She pleaded for a few days to get ready, but the studio representative was insistent. So she gave away almost everything in her apartment and hurried along. Once arrived, she fidgeted 2½ months without doing anything. In 10½ months she had played small parts in five pictures and asked for her release. RKO hired her and really put her to work.

Second of three on-the-scene articles telling the story of Bermuda at war.

* * *

BY TOM WOLF
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

Hamilton, Bermuda—Bermuda's transition from a tropical paradise for American tourists and honeymooners to the vital spot in the British Empire's communications system has not been achieved without discord.

Today there is a marked degree of resentment between the native Bermudians and the hundreds of English censors, evacuees, and officials whom the war has brought to the islands.

To discover the reason for this discord, you must first look at Bermuda's domestic economy.

For the past 20 years, since increasingly high U. S. tariffs have strangled much of Bermuda's agricultural economy, the islands' most valuable assets were their quaintness, quietness, sunshine, pink coral beaches, and scenery.

These were the magnets which each year drew thousands (1936-38 average was 80,000) of American tourists and honeymooners who spent tens of thousands of dollars in Bermuda.

But you can't export sunshine or quaintness or scenery, and so when the war scared tourists away (only 15,000 visited the islands in 1940), Bermuda was kicked right in the middle of its breadbasket.

The war severed Bermuda from Americans in other uncomfortable ways. To conserve Britain's supply of dollars for the purchase of war materials a Bermuda Food Control and Supply Board was established to see that Bermuda's pounds were spent in sterling areas—i. e. England, Canada and West Indies.

Bermudians had long been used to importing high quality American brands, to prompt deliveriees. With American imports no longer allowed, they found themselves getting unfamiliar brands, often of lower quality, with delivery dates extremely slow and uncertain.

—BRITISH RESENT AMERICAN TIES—

The English have always resented Bermuda's closeness to America. They were frequently outraged, for example, to get their bills at some of the tourists hotels figured in dollars and cents when the legal Colony currency is pounds, shillings, and pence. Today, with the Empire in a life and death struggle, they have even less patience with the Bermudian's very natural regretful concern at being cut off from America—tourists and trade. To the English, Bermuda is a small cog in the Empire and nothing more. Bermudians can't see it entirely that way.

His Excellency Lt. Gen. Sir Denis John Charles Kirwan Bernard, governor of Bermuda, unconsciously expressed this English attitude in the interview he granted me.

A tall, handsome British army man, with ruddy cheeks, graying hair and a mustache as closely clipped as his syllables, Sir Denis has had a thoroughly Empire background. It includes commands of the Royal Ulster Rifles and the Northern Command in India. I spoke to him in the gray, weather-beaten, limestone government offices building that fronts the Hamilton docks. His first thoughts were of the Empire.

"On the whole," Sir Denis declares, "any change that the war has brought to Bermuda is for the good, for the war has brought Bermuda still closer to the British Empire."

—"WAR EFFORTS" ABOUND—

To say that the Bermudians are more concerned with their islands than are the English is not to imply that they are disloyal to the Empire. Far from it. "War efforts" abound, with 12 separate groups raising money. Last year the Bermuda government gave the Empire an outright gift of 40,000 pounds. The Bermuda War Fund Appeal raised another 30,000.

For 1941, the government has contracted to give a 50,000-pound gift and a 200,000-pound loan, interest free, for 15 years. It hopes to be able to pay off the loan itself. These sums alone represent contributions to the war effort of over $50 for every one of the 32,000 men, women and children, white and colored, in Bermuda.

Bermuda is also giving men. Bermuda's 1000 troops in the Volunteer Rifle Corps, Volunteeer Engineers, and Military Artillery (colored) act as home guards. The Bermuda Flying School, whose two Luscombe trainers constantly drone in the blue skies overhead, has already sent 10 pilots to England.

In addition to these troops, which have taken much of the load of Bermuda defense off the Empire, Britain has stationed a few Cameron Highlanders on the islands. One sees them — hob-nail boots, shorts, and feathered tam-'o-shanters — scattered about the islands, resting and recuperating from their frightful experiences with the B. E. F. in the Flanders trap.

NEXT: Bermuda's direct role in war.

Lines for Living

WE NEVER TIRE

I'd think that after a certain amount
  We'd be fed-up on murder,
Or the gruesome account of the few frayed shreds
  Of the man who fell from a girder;
After a time it would seem that wrecks
  Would pall on our daily tasters,
That the gruel of crime would some day cool
  And we'd push it away like wasters.

But we want it "front-page," day after day,
  The same old story repeated,
A new cast of actors involved each time,
  The same old plot completed!
We've troubles our own, we must reap content
  When we smash a gloom pilaster,
In reading accounts where other folks
  Have smacked a little disaster!

PERIL DECRIED IN PNEUMONIA

Mortality Rate Bottom Reached, Eminent Doctor Says

Philadelphia (U.P.)—The outlook for further reduction in the pneumonia fatality rate is "pretty bad," according to Dr. Perrin H. Long, professor of preventive medicine at Johns Hopkins University.

Dr. Long blamed the pessimistic outlook on economic factors and public interest, as he spoke before the Philadelphia County Medical Society.

"We have just about reached our low mortality rate," Dr. Long said. "First, people don't go to see their doctors enough, because they don't have the money to spend. Second, people don't want to spend their money.

"If we could treat every pneumonia patient within 24 hours, through some drug or serum, the fatality rate would be cut to less than 5 per cent. But our education program is pretty hopeless, I think, and I don't feel that the mortality rate will go much below 8 per cent."

The nationally-known pulmonary expert praised the use of sulfapyridine and sulfathiozole as "really about the least dangerous drugs you can use as far as toxic effects are concerned."

He said that in the five years prior to the introduction of sulfapyridine at Johns Hopkins hospital, the pneumonia death rate was lowered 21 per cent. In the year following during October, 1938, when the drug was introduced, the mortality rate fell to 7.2 per cent.

Patience, Caution Are Watchwords Of State Ice Fishers

Lansing, Jan. 9—Patience and caution are watchwords now for Michigan's ice fishermen, kept from their usual sport by unsafe ice, thaws and unseasonable rainy weather. Two drownings, one near Hastings and the other near Coldwater, were reported as the season began for some, in spite of weak ice cover on the lakes.

Where ice remained strong enough in spite of thawing weather, spearing began on inland waters January 1, and ice fishing with hook and line began even earlier. Except for the prohibition against taking of bluegills at night and the closing of lakes in five southwestern counties to nonresidents fishing regulations for winter are much the same as for other seasons.

Anglers are limited in winter as in summer to two lines and a maximum of four hooks. All fishmen on inland waters now need 1941 fishing licenses.

State Political Gossip

Politicians of Both Parties Loud In Talk for Unity, But—

BY GUY H. JENKINS
(Grand Rapids Press)

Lansing—For the first time in history Michigan has a bipartisan government.

Some say it's going to work. Others are just as certain that when the record has been written it will be found that the real accomplishments can be credited to one or the other of the major political parties.

As the administration of Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner gets under way there are a few who recall the old story about the small town fellow who just knew the first steam railroad engine was a complete failure and would not operate, but when he saw the train go past he allowed that, by jolly, the engineer could not stop it.

One can get as many forecasts about the future of Michigan's present government as he wants. All he needs to do is listen around the capitol corridors as the intellectual giants propound their theories.

As most everyone should know by this time, we have a Democratic governor, lieutenant governor, state treasurer and highway commissioner. The auditor general, secretary of state, attorney general and superintendent of public instruction are Republicans. That makes the administrative board bipartisan with the governor calling the signals.

ONE GUESS APPEARS AS GOOD AS ANOTHER

The legislature is under complete domination of the Republicans. At this time it seems safe to say that by no stretch of the imagination can anything happen that would shift the control to the Democrats.

Good horse traders like Gov. Van Wagoner could take over very easily if the GOP majority was limited to three or four in one or both houses, but the odds appear to be definitely against him because of the Republican preponderance in both the senate and house.

About the same conditions obtain in New Jersey and Indiana, where the voters elected Democratic governors and then gave the Republicans the state offices and legislature. The boys who write political histories should have an abundance of material when 1942 comes to a close. A lot is going to happen in Michigan's political life as well as the other states similiarity situated as bipartisanship begins to function.

Maybe the next six months will determine the success or failure of the voters' experiment, but meantime one guess appears to be as good as another.

From outward appearances it would seem that everyone is for unity. They point out that the eyes of the nation are upon us (like they were in the famous 1937 sitdown strikes). There is great need for all to become political idealists. For the present that is just so much talk.

Never in the state's history had the Republicans and Democrats sat down to a lovefeast such as was staged New Year's night for Gov. Van wagoner and the 1941-42 state officers, four of whom are Republicans, along with a couple of former Republican governors. There also were present topflight leaders from both political parties, including three of the four national committee members. The absentee was Frank D. McKay of Grand Rapids, the GOP member.

INAUGURATION DAY SHOULD HAVE BEEN VAN WAGONER'S

But the after-dinner coffee was a little sloppy when one considered the political beating the Republican senate administered to the Democratic lieutenant governor and all the office has stood for these many years.

While the Democrats pray for it, it seems the only unity will be served a la GOP.

Nothing was spared to make Jan. 1 long to be remembered. It was a big day for Van Wagoner and the others inducted into office. Both political organizations shared equally in the affair. Maybe that was all right, but it did seem that Jan. 1 was the biggest day in Van Wagoner's life and it should have been his exclusively.

The late Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald always insisted that he knew nothing so useless as an ex-governor hanging around when his successor was inaugurated and that was the policy he pursued when he was succeeded by Frank Murphy on Jan. 1, 1937.

Murphy was very cordial in his invitation that Fitzgerald be present inauguration day. He became so insistent that Fitzgerald finally accepted.

It is recalled, however, that the last thing Fitzgerald did before leaving the executive office New Year's eve was to write Murphy a note expressing his best wishes for a successful administration, but pointing out that New Year's day was his, and for that reason Fitzgerald would listen to the inauguration as it came over the air.

CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION APPOINTMENTS PRAISED

So far, Gov. Van Wagoner has done exceedingly well in selecting members of his official family. If he gets by without picking one or two failures, he probably will be Michigan's first chief executive to establish such a record.

Give the governor the gaily decorated shaving mug for remembering the lame ducks. As long as we have a two-party system there will be plenty of such fellows, and governors, and presidents for that matter, can be depended upon to take care of the boys and girls who failed to arouse the voters' enthusiasm.

The lame duck program is as old as the government, so when Van Wagoner uses it, it is just history repeating itself.

VanWagoner starts off constitutional civil services with a bangup commission headed by George J. Burke of Ann Arbor. It is not surprising that Van Wagoner selected four men of the type of Burke, Alex J. Groesbeck, former Senator William Palmer of Flint and John C. Beukema of Muskegon. To many the surprising thing is how he succeeded in convincing Groesbeck he had a job to do for Michigan.

Groesbeck, who was attorney general for two terms and governor for three terms, up to now had held himself aloof from public service.

GROESBECK SHUNNED ALL POLITICAL HONORS

Since he left the governor's office Groesbeck has had no part in state government. The Republican party wanted him to become delegate-at-large to the last national convention, but he declined to do so. Other honors have been suggested to him, but he always said no.

Gov. Van Wagoner takes no great credit for Groesbeck's membership on the commission. He puts it this way:

"I met Groesbeck after election and asked him if he would do me a favor. He said he would, so I got his promise to serve on the civil service commission. That's all there is to it."

Frank Murphy appointed Burke to the 1937 civil service commission, from which he resigned early in 1939. Later he accepted appointment on the corrections commission.

Burke rather enjoys public service but is hostile to the idea of political campaigns. He won't run for office but under certain circumstances is willing to give his time and ability to a public service program much as civil service.

Palmer always has stood for the best things in government. Between partisan politics and the good for the most, he has been against partisan manipulations.

Beukema's interests have not brought him prominently into state political activities but over a period of years he has been identified with the advancement of the merit system as part of his program for governmental economy.

The merit system under this commission will have sympathetic consideration.

Catch of Coyotes Drops Below 1939 Figure In State

The number of predatory animals trapped for bounty in the upper peninsula during 1940 dropped to 1,528, the lowest level since 1935, when the bounty system was re-established in Michigan, regional officers of the state conservation department reported here yesterday.

As a result of their year's work, U. P. trappers holding contracts with the conservation department collected bounties aggregating approximately $27,200, which was paid for 775 male coyotes, 753 female coyotes, 29 wolves and four bobcats.

Only five U. P. counties showed larger catches during 1940, Marquette leading the list with an increase of 66 for a total of 221, which prevented the slump from reaching greater proportions.

Steady Down-Trend

In 1935, when the bounty system was re-established, 1,403 predators were turned in. The following year, when bounty trapping again was in full swing, the number rose to 2,514. Each year since the catch has declined, dropping to 2,126 in 1937, 2,102 in 1938, 1,695 in 1939 and 1,528 in 1940.

Opinion is mixed as to the cause of the decline. Some authorities believe that the abundances of predators particularly coyotes, is cyclical and that their numbers would vary over a period of years, regardless of trapping. Those who hold this view predict that the down-swing is almost complete and that there will be an increase in coyotes during the next few years.

Others contend that bounty trapping has been the principal cause for the decline and that it will continue if the number of trappers remains at present levels.

'Cat Bounty Restored

A $5 bounty on bobcats was restored, effective December 1, 1939, but only four were turned in during December, one each from Baraga, Marquette, Menominee and Schoolcraft counties.

Forty-one coyotes were trapped in the peninsula during December as follows: Alger county, 2; Baraga 1; Chippewa, 2; Delta, 2; Dickinson, 2; Gogebic, 5; Houghton, 1; Keweenaw, 0; Luce, 1; Mackinac, 5; Marquette, 4; Menominee, 5; Ontonagon, 6; and Schoolcraft, 0.

The coyote catch by counties was as follows for 1940 and 1939:

	1940	1939
Alger	157	136
Baraga	37	42
Chippewa	128	183
Delta	89	112
Dickinson	61	84
Gogebic	111	153
Houghton	38	68
Iron	73	122
Keweenaw	34	19
Luce	34	58
Mackinac	127	120
Marquette	221	247
Menominee	62	73
Ontonagon	224	247
Totals	1,528	1,695

McIntyre Is Appointed U.P. Dairy Specialist

G. S. McIntyre, former agricultural agent of Cass County, Michigan, arrived in the Upper Peninsula last week to take the position of extension specialist in dairying for Michigan State College. This place was held by A. R. Schubert before his death last July.

The McIntyres will make their home at the Upper Peninsula Experiment Station, Chatham, where he will have headquarters. Extension projects with sheep will be handled by McIntyre, as well as dairying. He will have charge of experimental work with the dairy herd and the sheep flock at the Chatham station.

Spending eight and one-half years in Cass County, McIntyre carried on a broad extension program, with special emphasis on dairying. A dairy herd improvement association was operating, and about 100 4-H members were in dairy projects. Community sheep dipping and drenching demonstrations were organized. Pasture improvement was carried on through the application of marl and fertilizer. The intensive land use planning project was carried on—one of the first counties in the state to be covered.

While McIntyre finished his general college work at Michigan State College in 1931, he has spent the fall term of 1940 taking advanced work in dairy and sheep to fit himself for the new position in the Upper Peninsula.

RETIRES FROM FISH BUSINESS

J. W. Cornell of Washington Island Is 75 Years Old

Washington Island, Wis.—Sailing the lakes for 58 years in search of fish, J. W. Cornell earned the title of the oldest active commercial fisherman on the Great Lakes until his retirement Dec 19 when he reached his 75th birthday. That stretch of years includes the use of every type of fish boat from his first, an old style sailing boat, through steam to the modern Diesel tug, the J. W Corneil, which he has turned over to his sons who have long been engaged in the business with their father.

Cornell, who began fishing when only 17 years of age, is a native of Washington Island where he was born Dec. 19, 1875. After spending his early days getting an education in Green Bay, he went to Bark River in 1882 to take his first fishing position on an old sailing vessel, the only means the company had of getting to and from their nets. He didn't stay in the employ of someone else long, but returned to the Island when Smith Brothers of Port Washington, who had a lease at Washington Harbor, became so disgusted with their poor catches they wished to sell out. Cornell bought them out and the very next year set a record for fish caught near the Island.

His first boat was the Flying Cloud, a sailing vessel, then for a time he used steam, but for several years he has used nothing but Diesels. Some of his boats include the Messenger, Unknown, Welcome, Sunrise, Henry Gust, and the Bub and Clara, the latter which he only recently sold. Corneli can tell many stories of trying times on the lakes as well as good ones. One of his worst breaks was when his boat, the Welcome, was blown on the beach in October, 1905, and had to be completely rebuilt.

Cornell is still very active for one his age, and in March he and Mrs. Cornell, the former Clara Jess, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary. The couple have four sons, William, George and Claude, all connected with the fishing company founded by the father, and County Superintendent of Schools Harvey Cornell, Sturgeon Bay, and four daughters, Mrs. Carl Anderson, Roselle, Ill.; Mrs. Chester Dedecker, Algoma; Mrs. Arni Richter and Mrs. Earl Malloch Jr., of Washington Island.

Eight Who Escaped From Devil's Island Sent To Martinique

Miami, Fla., Jan. 7 (AP)—Protesting that they probably would be shot, eight escapees from the Devil's Island penal colony were placed aboard a coast guard cutter today for deportation to Vichy-controlled Martinique.

One man, Louis Jeay, 34, was carried aboard after being given a sedative to quiet his nerves. Immigration Inspector W. B. Thomas said Jeay had been on a hunger strike.

The men had hoped to the last minute that they would be allowed to join Gen. Charles De Gaulle's "free French" forces to fight on the allied side.

The eight men arrived here in a small boat last August 24 after making their way from the French penal colony off the northeast coast of South America.

"We will escape again, if we don't get shot," one of them said before boarding the Unalga, "and go to London itself if necessary."

Indian Antiquity Indicated

Oraibi, Ariz. (U. P.)—A study of tree-rings in lumber used in houses of this Hopi Indian village proves the timber was cut as early as 1260 B. C., and continued until 1774.

Great Britain Facing New Nazi Air Threat

By Oswald Garrison Villard

It is a curious fact that the great British military victory in Egypt, which was a most crushing blow to the Italians, has evoked a grave threat to the victors. The open admission that the Germans are sending many squadrons into Italy to help out the Italian airforce comes on top of well-grounded reports that German transport planes have been flying fresh Italian troops into Albania, and of the passage of huge masses of German soldiers into Hungary and Rumania. Equally disquieting is the report at this writing, that Bulgaria has decided not to fight if the Germans demand an entrance, unless, of course, Russia should insist on her fighting and join her in an attack on the Germans. If the latter does not happen, Turkey will be in an extremely critical situation. But the main factor remains the German airforce. If Hitler can spare large numbers of planes, the whole aspect of the British situation in the Mediterranean will change, and they will have to fight desperately to hold what they have conquered.

Italians Never Ready

What is the reason for the inability of the Italians to live up to their reputation as great aviators? It was widely believed at the time of the Ethiopian campaign that the failure of the English to insist on sanctions was in large measure due to fear of the Italian airforce; the Admiralty was afraid that it would lose some of its battleships and cruisers by air attack if the decisions to enforce complete sanctions were carried through. Apparently the Italian propaganda about their "death air squadrons" was effective in London; these squadrons were said to be composed of picked aviators who were actually ready to dive down on the British ships and to fly into them at full speed. The British admiral in command, it was widely reported, was most eager to have the Italians try it, but his superiors ruled otherwise.

Aside from boasts of this kind, the Italian airforce has had an excellent reputation. They have had some remarkably fine seaplanes, broken numerous records, and have beyond question produced daring and highly skillful pilots as the record of the Schneider contests has shown. A writer in The Nineteenth Century points out, however, that the weakness of the Italians in international contests has always been their inability to be ready at a given date. In 1929 and in 1931 they asked for a postponement because their machine and engines were not in shape. In 1929 both of their new type seaplanes broke down, and in 1931 they cancelled their entry at the last minute and gave a British pilot a walk-over.

The English believe that despite her able designers, Italy entered the war flying chiefly out-of-date planes. As the dispatches have shown, the small Greek airforce has done extremely well against them and the superiority of the British airforce is beyond question. Individually brilliant, the Italian too often lacks solidarity with comrades and cohesiveness, and does not have the stamina to fight a losing war, although there are plenty of Englishmen who can and do testify to the courage and desperate fighting power they have witnessed in certain Italian combat units.

England's Situation Still Grave

That the calling in of the Germans is a bitter humiliation for Mussclini goes without saying. The silences of that great braggart have become ludicrous. He has discovered, too, the limitations of his censorship, and so he has had to admit to his own people not only the extent of his terrific defeat in Egypt and Libya, but his having to go down on his knees to his Axis partner to save him ere he is lost. Where are those death squadrons? Where those boasts that the Italians had the finest and speediest airplanes? Will he catch up now. He is desperately hard-up for raw materials, and the British are not only destroying Italian planes, but are making it impossible for him to keep his factories going because of the constant raiding of Milan Turin and other manufacturing cities. It is no idle guess that the German airforce will steadily supplant the Italian. The so warmly welcomed "comrade" will soon become the dominator; the German military were never intended to be merely cooperators.

Whether the British forces, both military and naval, can stand up against these German attacks is the question upon which everything now depends, and that resolves itself into the question whether they will have anything like the necessary bombers with which to fight back. It is encouraging to have Beaverbrook say that England has more planes today than it has ever had, and that the flight of new American planes across the Atlantic is going on steadily and efficiently. But what the English have been longing for is enough planes to enable them to give Germany as stiff doses of bombing and burning cities as the Germans have given to the English. That the latter are approaching that point seems to be proved by the terrific onslaught on Bremen on January 2. I still believe that if it comes to a contest of nerves in destructive air attacks the English will win easily. But if they must now send hundreds of additional bombers and fighting aircraft to Greece, Turkey and Libya, then they will be correspondingly weakened in raiding Germany. The outlook for England continues extremely grave.

Hermansville

MANY ALIENS REGISTER

One hundred and forty aliens were registered in Hermansville post office by Postmaster William Radue, who was assisted by Jack Kliemola. This number was far in excess of the original estimate of 25. In the original estimate the local officials did not attempt to count the aliens in the neighboring communities who registered in Hermansville rather than make the trip to Menominee.

Newberry

Industrial Outlook For Newbery In '41 Is Extremely Good

Newberry, Mich.—The Prospects look bright here for 1941.

AA factories, excepting one, which is expected to go into operation this week, are now operating at full capacity, and the unemployment situation is good.

The Newberry Lumber and Chemical Company, which is the largest industry and employs a crew of approximately 300 men, is now operating its three plants full blast. Last month the company shipped 30,000 gallons of wood alcohol to South America, and according to reports it is finding a ready market for all the alcohol and acetic acid it can produce.

The lumber mill operated by this company is running day and night shifts, and the demand for lumber is reported to be brisk. The market for charcoal iron is reported to be spotty, but has been improving.

The Robbins Flooring company, the second largest employer of labor in the community, is operating at full capacity, and employs approximately 75 men. During the Christmas season of 1940, this company presented its employees a bonus of 5 per cent of the years wages, amounting to an average of about $45 for each employee.

The Barrett saw mill has been operating full capacity almost throughout the year of 1940, employing over 50 men.

The Chesbrough saw mill, which is expected to go into operation this week, will furnish employment to about 50 more men.

What to Eat in Winter—and Why

Mr. duBois, a former food chemist for the government, is a nationally recognized authority on diet.

• • •

BY WILBUR L. duBOIS, M. A.

Work done by the average human body in 24 hours would raise a heavy passenger automobile to the top of a 10-story building. All this power comes from the burning (oxidation) of food within the body structure.

The source of all energy is the sun. With the help of sunlight, green leaves combine carbon dioxide from the air with water and make sugars and starches. The chemist calls them carbohydrates.

Carbohydrates are widely distributed throughout the world and are the cheapest fuel the body can burn. They are also quick-energy foods.

Cane and beet sugars, molasses and honey are stocked with power for immediate use. The starch in such foods as bread, cereals, potatoes, corn, peas, beans and parsnips is first changed into sugar in our own factory, the body. In a mixed diet over half our energy usually comes from the carbohydrates.

In a later article we will show how this mixed diet should be made up so as to include carbohydrates and other food essentials in the right proportions.

A source of quick heat and energy is very important in cold weather. Our fires burn faster and sometimes exhaust the fuel supply before regular filling time.

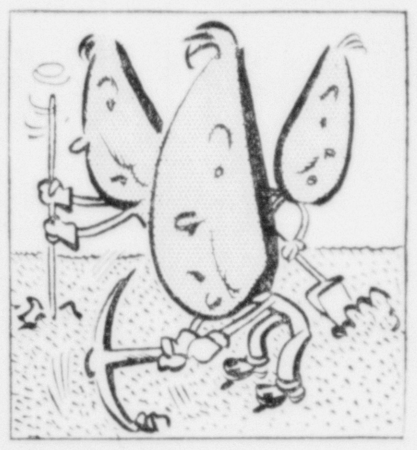
Keep a box of good candy or some raisins or dried fruits hard by. For that between-meal sag eat some of these quick action foods. This emergency ration will hit the right spot at once and give the necessary kick for another hour's work. Sugar is the quickest food stimulant known.

Growing children who have less storage capacity than adults and at the same time are more on the move, really need a small refill of this same nature in mid-morning and mid-afternoon so as to carry them comfortably to the next meal.

A piece of bread and butter with jam or jelly, a sweetened fruit drink or an ice cream cone will fill the bill. A cup of hot cocoa is a pleasant variation.

Sugar is also a protection against low temperature. When exposed to cold we need extra fuel. Eaten while on a long winter hike or when watching a football game on a cold day, its flame helps keep the body temperature as it should be. Take along a candy bar.

NEXT: How much fuel?



Carbohydrates give us energy for hard work.

Regina Oakman Is Bride of Sam Zappia, Chicago

Miss Regina Oakman, daughter of Mrs. Victor Oakman of Escanaba, Route One, became the bride of Sam Zappia of Chicago, son of Mr. and Mrs. Casimer Zappia, at a ceremony of charming appointments, which took place Saturday afternoon, January 4, at three o'clock at the Central Methodist church.

The marriage service was read by Rev. Karl J. Hammar, holiday flowers and greenery forming the setting for the ceremony. Miss Lorraine Erickson, soloist of the service, sang "O Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly," and played the customary wedding marches, "Bridal Chorus" from Wagner's "Lohengrin," and Mendelssohn's Wedding March.

The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ebbesen and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Anderson.

The bride wore a beautiful model of glittering sparkle velveray taffeta, fashioned with draped bodice, full elbow-length sleeves and a full skirt which extended into a graceful train. Her fingertip veil of fine net was lace edged, held in place by lilies of the valley. She carried an arm bouquet of deep red roses.

Mrs. Ebbesen wore a floor length model of aqua taffeta and Mrs Anderson's gown was of peach shade, and both carried snapdragons, roses and carnations.

Mrs. Oakman, mother of the bride, wore dark green with gold nail-head trim and Mrs. Zappia wore a light green dress with white trim.

Wedding Supper

A wedding supper was served at seven o'clock at Belle's Coffee shop, with covers for twenty-five guests. A tiered wedding cake, edged with pink roses, formed the table centerpiece.

Phyllis Bunno Bride In Lovely Church Ceremony

Poinsettias and chrysanthemums, amidst tall tapers, decorated the altar of St. Anne's church, Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock for the exchange of vows between Phyllis Louise Bunno, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Bunno, 922 Second avenue north, and Normand Pierre Seymour, son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Seymour, 521 South 15th street. The rites were held on the twenty-fourth anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Bunno's wedding.

Rev. Father Joseph E. Guertin solemnized the High Mass of the Angels which was sung by St. Anne's choir with Bernard Ammel rendering the "Sanctissima" at the offertory.

Preceding the bride down the white-carpeted aisle was the maid of honor, Miss Elaine Beauchamp of Escanaba, and her bridesmaid, Miss Arlene Varda of Norway.

Bride in White Taffeta

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a fitted jacquard tapestry taffeta gown which had a sweetheart neckline, long pointed sleeves and a full train. Her lace-edged finger-tip veil was held in place by a seeded pearl tiara, her only ornament being a diamond encrusted gold locket which is an heirloom in her family. She carried an arm bouquet of sweetheart roses, white lilies and snapdragons. The maid of honor and bridesmaid were dressed alike in fitted pink sparkle velveray satin gowns with full skirts and puffed sleeves. Their shoulder length veils were of matching pink. They wore long pink mitts and carried mixed arm bouquets of jonquils, gladioli and snapdragons.

The groom's attendants were John Kenneth Ryan of Escanaba and Raymond L. Bunno, brother of the bride. Donald L. Seymour, brother of the groom, was usher.

Before leaving the sanctuary, the bride placed her flowers on the Blessed Virgin's altar, replacing it by a ribbon-bedecked crystal rosary, gift of the groom, which she carried during the recessional.

Breakfast and Reception

The bride's mother was dressed in brown and gold with brown accessories and wore a corsage of jonquils and gladioli.

The mother of the groom wore a teal blue ensemble with ebony accessories and a corsage of American Beauty roses and gladioli.

A wedding breakfast for thirty-two guests was served at the Delta hotel, the table being decorated with baskets of gladioli and snapdragons, and centered with a large tiered wedding cake. A reception followed the breakfast at the home of the bride's parents.

For traveling the bride wore a suit of dusty rose flannel with brown accessories and a corsage of sweetheart roses.

Home in Lansing

Following a honeymoon in a cottage in Michigan's northwoods, the couple will reside in Lansing, where Mr. Seymour and his brother are building contractors.

The bride attended St. Joseph's school in this city and graduated from the Diocesan Teachers college at Prairie du Chien, Wis. The groom attended St. Anne's and St. Joseph's school in Escanaba.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. E. Bunno of Iron River, Mrs. C. Morand of Perkins, Mrs. Louise LaLonde, Mrs. Laura Cassells, Mrs. A. Thivierge, Mr. and Mrs. M. Cassells, Mr. and Mrs. M. Caldwell, Martin Cassells and Mr. and Mrs. D. Bunno of Gladstone.

QUICK TARTAR SAUCE

A quick tartar sauce can be made by adding a quarter cup pickle relish and a quarter cup catsup to one cup mayonnaise.

LUNCHEON FRUIT SALAD

Stuff cooked prunes and apricots with a mixture of cream cheese and chopped walnuts. Serve on crisp lettuce with mayonnaise. Cream of tomato soup would be a nice first course, then fruit salad and hot biscuits, and for dessert, Spanish cream, coffee, tea or milk.

Nazi Challenge To Religion Is Speaker's Topic

"The Religion of the Nazis and Its Challenge to the Christian World" will be the subject of an address which will be given tonight at 7:45 o'clock, in the parlors of the Bethany Lutheran, Dr. C. Albert Lund, pastor, by Heinz K Ladwig, Christian Jew refugee from Germany, who is now a theological student at Augustana Seminary at Rock Island, Ill.

This serious-minded young student, who is a senior at the seminary, and who expects to be ordained into the ministry in June, has appeared as guest speaker in a number of churches within the Synod and his important message has attracted and deeply impressed his listeners on every occasion.

In his address he elaborates from personal experience on the Nazi challenge to Christian faith, which he summarizes under three points: first, that criticism of the Bible and its teachings leads to deterioration of Christianity; second, that neglect to bring up the children in the word of God causes the church to lose support of the rising generation; and third, that the experience in Germany has "shown us what strength there is in faith in Christ Jesus."

The general public is cordially invited to hear Mr. Ladwig's address. There is no admission fee but an offering will be taken to help defray the young student's traveling expenses.

SKI SLIDE FINE, JUMPERS SAY

New Hill Gets Baptism Here; No Danger, Men Report

The Manistique ski slide was given its baptism yesterday and pronounced entirely satisfactory.

Rev. Otto Steen, Art Allen and Frank Rubick are the three skiers who gave the slide its initial test yesterday, and all were fully satisfied with the performance of the slide.

Although skiing conditions were not good, the men jumped several times each, for distances of approximately 50 feet. Jumps of about 80 feet will be made with better snow conditions.

The men reported later that the slide is perfectly safe and that skiers need have no fear of injury. It is probable that the takeoff from the scaffold will be lengthened slightly to give jumpers a better opportunity to get set for the leap, it was said. This also would provide longer jumps and permit landing on the natural hill in better positions, the ski enthusiasts said.

The construction of a walkway to the top of the slide also will be built immediately, it was reported.

Parking space for automobiles near the slide and ski hills will be made by plowing out the areas off the road and snow fences will be constructed to keep the crowds back from the ski slide.

CCC Boy Unconscious 3 Hours on M-77 When Struck by Hit-Run Car

Raymond Johnson, 18, of Munising, CCC boy of Camp Germfask, miraculously escaped serious injury early yesterday morning when he was struck by an automobile on highway M-77, two miles north of Germfask, and lay unconscious on the highway for nearly three hours. A second car also ran over the prostrate boy, but Johnson was recovering satisfactorily from his harrowing experience yesterday afternoon.

Johnson told state police yesterday that he had left his home in Munising Tuesday morning to hitch hike to Camp Germfask. He said that he got a ride to Shingleton but that he had walked the 25 miles from Shingleton to Seney and about five of the seven miles from Seney to Germfask when he was struck by an oncoming car about one o'clock Wednesday morning.

The driver of the car which hit the youth failed to stop and the boy fell on the highway. Shortly before four a. m. a car driven by Warren G. Thorpe, of Jackson, Mich., ran over the prostrate youth, but Thorpe told state police his car straddled the body of the young man and that no portion of his car actually hit Johnson.

Thorpe said he was unable to see the boy until his car was only a few feet from the unconscious youth, too late to swerve away.

Believing the boy was dead, Thorpe returned to Germfask and notified Deputy Sheriff George Allen, who investigated the case, and found that Allen was still alive.

Johnson regained consciousness shortly after his rescue and unfolded his story to officers. Taken to Germfask, it was found that he was suffering from shock and bruises He suffered a sprained left shoulder and bruises about the thighs and legs.

Police theorized that Johnson had become nearly exhausted from his 30 mile hike and that when he was sideswiped by the oncoming car, he was rendered unconscious for a longer time than such a blow would be likely to cause under normal conditions.

12 SELECTEES IN NEXT QUOTA

Tentative Figure Given for February Induction Group

A tentative quota of 12 men has been assigned to the Schoolcraft county draft board for the next induction group scheduled for about Feb. 1, the draft board has been advised.

The February induction group will be third under the selective service act. In the first group, this county's quota was only one and in the second group, which was inducted at Escanaba Tuesday, Schoolcraft county's quota was six.

It has been anticipated that the quotas would increase since the quota tentatively established for the local draft board for the period ending June 30 has been fixed at 96. After providing 12 men for the February induction, a total of 17 will have been drafted from this county, leaving 79 additional to be taken into the service before June 30.

In both the first and second induction groups, all of the men assigned from this county have passed the physical examination at the induction center. When men selected to report to the induction centers fail to pass the physical examination, the number is added to the next induction quota for the board.

The local draft board reported yesterday that registrants desiring to serve their year of training in the U. S. navy, rather than the army, may make application to the draft board for voluntary enlistment in the naval service. When the navy requests additional men, these volunteers will be given preference.

However, if the order number of such volunteer is called for military service before he is taken into the naval service, the registrant must be inducted into the army, rather than the navy.

Santiago, Chile, Jan. 7. (AP)—The Chilean premiere of Charlie Chaplin's "The Great Dictator" was interrupted today by a group who threw tear-gas bombs into the Santa Lucia theater and chorused "Viva Hitler!" as they were dispersed by armed police.

When calm was restored, the audience sang the Chilean national anthem and the showing was resumed.

He added that a meeting yesterday between himself and a five-man group of UAW Lincoln plant members was granted under the impression the group came as individuals and not as union representatives.

Meanwhile, James F. Dewey, federal labor department conciliator, went to the home of Harry H. Bennett, Ford personnel director, who is ill, to confer over the general UAW-CIO dispute with Ford.

It will be the third debate of the preliminary series for each squad and the question to be argued is whether or not it is advisable to decrease the powers of the federal government.

Gladstone will handle the affirmative side of the argument.

Forming the local trio will be Charlotte Nelson, Rita Rasmussen and Paul Cowen, Coach Russell Skelienger has announced. On the Escanaba team will be Darb Hess, Lenore Olson and Barbara Bartlette with Bill Carey as alternate. Bertrand Henne, formerly of Gladstone, is the Eskymo coach.

Escanaba in the two previous starts has lost both, while Gladstone has one victory and one defeat to their credit and thus still remains in the race for U. P. honors.

Don't Neglect More Than Half Of Your Digestion

Speed Up Digestion In Stomach But Help Other Vital Half As Well

More than half of the digestive process takes place after our food leaves the stomach. So, when you feel sour, bilious, sick and disgusted, don't take something that helps only your stomach—try Carter's Little Liver Pills.

Carter's Little Liver Pills speed up the other half of digestion because they increase the flow of a powerful digestive juice. This juice flows into the intestines to help digest our food, lessen food decay and bring on the glorious feeling that goes with regularity. When this vital juice flows at the rate of two pints a day, most folks feel like shouting for joy.

But be sure you get the pills that increase the flow of this juice—that help the neglected half of digestion. Take them as directed. Insist on Carter's Little Liver Pills—10 and 25¢.

BY FREDERICK GARDNER

New York, Jan. 8 (AP)—Announcement of a $17,500,000,000 federal budget for the next fiscal year, with more billions to follow for defense later, sent traders in a scurry today for industrial commodities and rail bonds but left the market relatively calm.

Share prices, already reaching higher before the president's message appeared, went up a little further, then backed away to finish only modestly ahead.

But in the bond list, where trading reached the highest level of any session in over 15 months, rail loans were actively sought at rising prices. Many traders, reminded by the president's words of the tremendous amount of industrial activity ahead, saw the senior obligations as preferable to stocks to cash in on a defense boom in freight traffic.

Industrial commodities had an upward whirl. The Associated Press index of 35 spot commodities made another new high since November, 1937. In futures trading cotton added 30 cents to $1 a bale. Tin, hides, copper, cottonseed oil and several other raw materials had strong buying support at times during the day.

But the Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced only .1 of a point to 44.5 and turnover in the exchange was at the calm pace of 644,260 shares, compared with Tuesday's 525,540.

When the final gong rang advances of a point or so—many had been wider at mid-afternoon—were shown for such issues as U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, J. I. Case, Union Pacific, Santa Fe, New York Central, Chrysler, Anaconda, Kennecott, Cerro De Pasco, American Can, Owens-Illinois, U. S. Gypsum, U. S. Rubber, Consolidated Aircraft, United Aircraft, International Nickel and Westinghouse.

Even, or a little lower, were General Motors, Union Carbide, Johns-Manville, Glenn Martin and American Telephone.

In the curb, where sales totalled 100,000, against 107,000 the previous day, gains were shown for American Hard Rubber, Bell Telephone of Canada, Great Atlantic & Pacific, Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, Wright Hargreaves and N. J. Zinc. Pennsylvania Salt lost 2 on a small scale.

U. P. Briefs

Menominee — The city of Menominee will request the Chicago and North Western railroad to place a watchman at the grade crossing at Michigan avenue and Jenkins street 24 hours a day, according to action taken by the council last night in approving a report of the police, license and traffic committee.

On the night of December 28 four persons were injured, one seriously, when a coupe in which they were riding on Jenkins street was struck by a freight train locomotive. There are gates at the crossing but a watchman is on duty only from 7 a. m. to 4 p. m. The accident occurred just before 11 p. m.

Alderman Frank Schick requested that the committee investigate an ordinance passed "seven or eight years ago" which ordered that trains crossing highway US-41 at the crossing in question travel 10 miles per hour.

Chief of Police Frank Parsek is planning the installation of flashing traffic signals at Stephenson avenue and Jenkins street, an intersection that has more than its share of accidents almost every year.

PREPARING SKI JUMP

Iron Mountain—Conditioning of the big Pine Mountain ski jump was begun today under the direction of Eino Eckloff, senior jumper of the Kiwanis Ski club.

The hill, highest artificial jump in the country, is being prepared a week earlier this year to permit local riders to practice before the 1941 Pine Mountain tournament, Feb. 9.

Iron Mountain and Kingsford riders have been eager to try the jump since the close of the Central U. S. Ski association school, which ended here Dec. 30. New ideas in jumping form learned by riders from James Ellingson, Eau Claire, Wis., Walter Beitila, Madison, Wis., and the two Bradleys, Dave and Joe, will be practiced as soon as the slide is ready.

START SKATING CLUB

Stambaugh — There was additional activity on the winter sports front in Stambaugh last night when a group of young people, meeting at the home of William Markert, Second street, organized the Ottawa Figure skating club.

Purpose of the newly-formed group is to work together for a troupe number which will be shown at the winter carnival here. While not all of the club's members are adept in figure or fancy skating, they plan on rehearsals between now and the end of the month and hope by that time to have numbers worked out to furnish additional entertainment at the carnival.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Jan. 8 (AP)—The wheat market's attempt at a rally today fell short of restoring prices to the best levels of the past month and finally was nullified by renewal of profit taking late in the session.

Gains ranging from ½ to 3-4 cent were chalked up at times but ebfore the close these had been erased and small fractional net losses were reported. Final figures were ¼ lower to 1-8 higher compared with yesterday, May 87 5-8 to 87½, July 82 1-8 to 82¼.

Corn closed unchanged to ¼ lower, May 62 5-8 to 62 3-4, July 62 5-8; oats unchanged to 1-8 up; soybeans ½ to 5-8 up; rye ¼ to 3-8 down and lard 10 to 20 higher.

Rye and oats trade was very quiet but soybeans were up more than a cent at one time due partly to renewed investment purchasing.

Higher hog and cottonseed oil prices stimulated another sharp upturn of lard. Reports of Japanese inquiry for 400 to 800 tons of lard on top of purchases of 500 tons last month attracted attention.

New York, Jan. 8 (AP)—Bond traders put the accent on rails today in the biggest market session since the September, 1939, "war boom."

With individual carriers advancing one to three points, the day's transactions totalled $14,159,200, face value, compared with $9,442,400 yesterday.

The Associated Press average of 20 selected rails established a new 1940-41 high for the third successive day, pushing ahead to the highest point reached since the 1939 boom.

U. S. governments retreated, some declining about half a point. Operators evinced little interest in the federals, however, and the majority were untouched.

Several utilities moved up and the closing bell found leading gainers among Atlantic Coast Line 4s at 71, International Telephone 5s at 42½, Delaware & Hudson refunding 4s at 52, Portland General Electric 4½s at 84, Southern Pacific 4½s of '68 at 43¼, New York Central 4½s at 60 7-8 and Nickel Plate 4½s at 61 3-8.

Miami Citizens Get Ready For Tourists

BY THOMAS W. HAGAN

Miami—That annual Miami "boom" is no bust this year. It's an honest-to-goodness noise approaching the ear-splitting.

In the first 11 months of 1940, $15,000,000 in Miami Beach building permits started 43 new hotels with 2983 rooms . . . built 176 apartment buildings with 1745 units . . . provided for 300 new homes.

Across the bay in Miami 2231 new homes are going up.

All this and more, too, for the great tourist influx . . . three dog ovals . . . two race tracks . . . 30 night clubs . . . eight legitimate stage shows . . . Orange bowl celebrations.

People around here are too busy to do much analyzing of this boom, but most of them think it's due primarily to two big factors:

1. People can't go to Europe.
2. Defense spending is causing prosperity elsewhere.

* * *

HOUSING FOR 169,000 VISITORS

Every year, of course, Miami boosters predict the inevitable boom, but the best evidence that they feel sure about it this year, is that $15,000,000 spent in the first 11 months of 1940 for new hotels, apartment houses and homes. Comparatively small as is the Miami area, building construction gave it 16th place in the United States in this regard.

As a result of all this State Hotel Commissioner W. M. Taylor estimates about 169,000 people can now be housed in the 505 hotels with 32,195 rooms and in the 2263 apartments with 20,375 units.

The Miami Chamber of Commerce thinks this estimate is far too modest, asserts Miami can easily accommodate 200,000 visitors.

That the Miami boom is not wishful thinking, is further proved by the advance bookings in the rush up north to get Pullman car accommodations on Miami-bound trains.

* * *

LOTS OF ROOMS— LOWER RATES

Despite the expected heavy tourist influx, the large number of new hotels and apartment houses built since last winter will probably hold rates down.

Vacation seekers who come to Miami Beach between Jan. 15 and March 1 will have to pay on an average about $7 per day for a double room on the European plan.

In Miami proper the rates are usually lower because hotels and apartments on the western side of Biscayne Bay do not attempt to compete with the establishments facing the ocean in Miami Beach.

Boosters expect a lot of front page names during the season. President Roosevelt, the Duke and Duchess of Windsor and Wendell Willkie have already been here.

* * *

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

Tropical Park race track opened Dec. 20 and will continue races until Jan. 8, when the meeting moves to Hialeah Park for 46 days. Then the meeting returns to Tropical Park March 3 for another 36 days. All this means, of course, that Miami expects crowds of visitors clear into April.

The annual fishing tournament runs from Jan. 12 to April 20.

Those who like to tempt the goddess of chance in localities other than the race tracks will, it is hinted, find places in Dade and Broward counties where the nimble dice will be thrown and the elusive cards will be turned in faro and other similar games. But none of this will occur in Miami Beach, where the lid is clamped down.

CONSCRIPT'S WIFE
BY BETTY WALLACE

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Bill seems almost glad to get away from the drab routine of the store. And before Martha realizes it, the day for Bill's leaving has arrived. Paul goes to the train with them. As Bill swings aboard he tells Paul to look out for Martha. The train leaves. Martha faces Paul. "I'm a conscript's wife now." ---

PAUL FOLLOWS ORDERS
CHAPTER III

Martha Marshall stood on the platform, watching with tear-blurred eyes as the lights of the train grew dimmer and dimmer in the distance. She scarcely noticed when the crowd of people began pushing toward the stairs. Someone behind her said wearily, "Well, that's over."

For Martha, it wasn't over. It was just beginning. She thought of the empty apartment—the silence and the memories that were waiting for her—and her throat tightened.

Paul touched her arm. "You didn't eat dinner," he said. "Do you want to stop somewhere and have something now?"

"I—I couldn't, Paul."

Out in the car, Butch was whining, his nose pressed against the glass. He bounded out as Martha opened the door. He licked her hand. Then he looked behind her. His head cocked to one side, inquiringly. He seemed to be asking, "Where's Bill?"

"He's gone, boy," murmured Martha. "Gone for a long time. There's just you and me, now."

"Well," Paul said, gently. "There's me, too. Remember, I promised Bill I'd look after you."

Martha didn't answer. She patted the dog's head and remembered the far-away day she and Bill had first seen him. He'd been a scrawny little pup in the arms of a weeping small boy.

"My father don't want him," the boy said, huddled up on the curbstone. He had looked at them with tragic brown eyes. "I just can't take him to the pound. They'll g-g-gas him."

The puppy had pathetic bowed legs and a funny, wrinkled little muzzle. Martha had reached for him and the little boy asked eagerly, "Do you want him, Missus? Do you? He's a good dog. He don't eat much. Honest, he don't."

Bill coughed, "I'll give you a dollar for him."

"Gee, Mister!"

For nights afterward Martha had had to get up to feed the crying little puppy. He had to be house broken, and there was the problem of what to do about him while they worked.

Bill cursed himself for ever having bought the animal. Yet he was the one who said, "It's tough on you, coming home from the office and straightening the dump, anyway. Let's get a woman to help—she could fix our dinner, too—and then she'd be here to get the pup out during the day."

"Martha," said Paul, touching her arm. "Martha, what is it?"

* * *

She shook the memories from her. She mustn't go off into dazes like this. There was so much to remember—but she had to keep going, had to bear up. After all, she thought, trying to whip herself into being sensible, She had been alone before she married Bill.

Butch scrambled back into the car. Martha got wearily in behind him. Paul didn't ask if she wanted him to drive. He simply held out his band for the key.

They were almost home when Martha said, "Wait, Paul. I—I guess I am hungry, after all." She couldn't face the empty apartment. Not just yet . . .

"You must have been hungry," said Paul, in a restaurant a few minutes later, as she lifted a roll to her lips and put it back without tasting it. "Now, listen, Martha. You've got to be reasonable. He's not going off to do or die—nobody's going to take potshots at him. It's just training."

"I know," she smiled wanly. "I know."

"Well, for Pete's sake, buck up!"

"I'll try."

He fiddled with his fork. "I promised Bill I'd take care of you." There was a wry little smile around his mouth. "I'm not going to let you mope. Why, you won't even have time to miss the guy. Because you and I are going to be very gay. Very patriotic, see? The chin up, the spirit fearless, and body parked in a movie every night."

But she couldn't summon even a smile, so he took her home. After he had said goodnight, Martha threw herself on her bed. The tears which had been dammed up so long came freely then. She cried with her face in the pillow where Bill's head had lain, every night. She cried with her fists balled up and Butch worried and restless on the floor under her bed. After a while, he crawled up and licked her comfortingly.

"Oh, Butch," she wailed. "Butch, how are we going to get through a whole year without him?"

Butch jumped up on the bed and did his doggy best to assure her that it could be done.

* * *

Next morning, in the office, she was ashamed of having been such a fool. She greeted Paul with a cheerful smile. "The flood is over," she said. "From now on, it's stout heart, iron control, and bring on the gaiety."

Paul grinned. He wasn't handsome, he had none of Bill's dark good looks or the boyish charm. But when he smiled, like this, his plain, bony face became oddly charming.

"You call up Suzanne right away! The first thing to do is drive the blues out of the apartment with a steak dinner, radio music, and loud talk."

So at 5 o'clock Suzanne drove up to the plant in her smart gray coupe. Martha and Paul squeezed in. They stopped at a super-market and bought quantities of food. In the kitchen, Martha donned an apron and Paul, appropriating the only other one available, began supervising production. He was sarcastic about the way Suzanne set the table, took over the task himself.

"It's simply not your line, Sue."

"Oh, isn't it? I'm very domestic, underneath."

"You make the coffee, Sue. Anyone can make coffee. Just measure it right, add—"

Martha moved in between them then, laughing, ordered Paul into the living room. Suzanne said bitterly, "If I walked around with flour on my nose, I suppose he'd admit that I'm domestic."

After dinner, they went out to a movie. Martha hung back in the darkness of the aisle so that Suzanne could sit next to Paul. She thought, triumphantly, "I'm so tactful! I hope Sue appreciates it."

But then, the figures on the screen became blurred. Having Paul and Suzanne for dinner had not chased the ghosts out of the apartment at all. It had simply reminded her of those other dinners, when Bill was home. She wondered, achingly, what her husband was doing now at that Reception Station. Was he lying somewhere on a cot, in a tent perhaps? Was he thinking of her? It was—she tried to look at her wristwatch, but it was too dark—it must be 10:30. Did soldiers have to turn in early?

Paul leaned across Suzanne. "What's the matter, Martha?"

"Nothing." She gave her attention, determinedly, to the blond tornado on the screen, who was whirling through the mad motions of a very torrid rhumba.

Watertown And Madison Enter Skating Meet

CLASSY FIELD NOW ASSURED

Fourth Annual Bay de Noc Open Event Ends Sunday

Entries for the Fourth Annual Bay De Noc Skating Meet, scheduled here for Saturday and Sunday, were received from Watertown and Madison, Bevier Butts said yesterday.

NEED HOUSING FACILITIES
Up to last night, housing facilities for all skaters expected to participate in the meet, Saturday and Sunday were inadequate. Anyone willing to lodge (no meals) any of the skaters is asked to call 949-J or 1976 sometime today.

The Watertown delegation, including 11 skaters from seven different classes, is headed by flashy Eddy Dobratz, national champion, Wisconsin state champion and runner-up in the Bay De Noc open in the junior class last year. In winning the national championship at LaCrosse, he set a new national record in the 3-4 mile which is only 3-10 of a second slower than the intermediate record held by Ken Bartholomew, nationally known speed skater. Dobratz will be skating in the intermediate class this year.

With the Watertown team will be Floyd Usher, who holds the junior 220 record in the Bay De Noc open and placed third in last year's meet; Allen Anderson, joint holder of Wisconsin Class B championship in 1940 and fifth place winner in last year's Bay De Noc open; Alfred Wallner, senior men, and Florence Koselnich, senior girl who also attended Bay De Noc open meets in the past.

The Madison delegation will include Charles (Chick) Lowe, who tied for third place in the junior boys' class in last year's Bay De Noc open. He will be skating in the junior boys' division this year. According to Fred Milverstedt, vice president of the Wisconsin Skating association, and coach of the Madison club, he is also bringing Bill Carow, Madison's top junior skater of last year, who was unable to compete in many of the meets because of a severe case of the flu. Carow is fully recovered and will make a strong bid for junior honors at the Bay De Noc open. Harold Schelton, steady competitor for the past two years, has moved to Washington, D. C., and will not be with the team this year.

CHICAGO CUBS FINISH IN RED

Club Fails to Return Profit In Two Big Pennant Years

Chicago, Jan. 8, (AP)—Owner P. K. Wrigley disclosed today that the Chicago Cubs had finished "in the red" six of the last 10 years.

Wrigley said the club failed to make a profit in two of its pennant years—1932 and 1938. It did make money, he added, in 1931, when it finished third in the National league; in 1935, when it won the pennant, and in 1936 and 1937, both second place years.

The data was based on figures "before taxes and without concessions," Wrigley said.

Earlier, General Manager James Gallagher said the Cubs would not renew their working agreement with Moline, Ill., of the Three-Eye league.

FANCY FENCERS

Milwaukee, Wis. — Marquette university fencers, with prospects brighter than they ever have been in the brief history of the sport on the Hilltop ,will open their 1941 campaign against Northwestern university at Evanston on Saturday. Coach E. M. Preussler is working entirely with veterans, and will have outstanding stars in Capt. Bill Scholl, state foils champion, and John Benson, state champion in both sabre and epee. A heavy schedule is being arranged.

DOESN'T PLAY FOOTBALL

Milwaukee, Wis.—Bill Komenich, Marquette university's brilliant 6 foot, 3 inch, 210 pound basketball guard, has the build of a football tackle, but he doesn't engage in the gridiron sport. A brother was killed in a football game, and his parents objected to Bill's participation.

ROCK IS READY FOR ST. JOSEPH

Veteran Little Giant Crew Will Meet Parochials

Rock, Mich., Jan. 8.—Back into the swing of things after the holiday layoff, the Little Giants are preparing for their invasion of Escanaba Friday night when they meet St. Joseph cagers.

Coach Cliff Buckmaster's cagers had a fairly successful preholiday campaign, winning from Rapid River, Harris and Perkins, while losing to Eben. The Eben game is the one Buckmaster is remembering and has impressed on his boys the fact that they may take another does of the same medicine Friday night from the Parochials.

In recent years, Rock has held the upper hand from St. Joseph but things may be different this year. Coach Carl Kant has an up and coming team that defeated a rugged Stephenson crew and gave Gladstone plenty of trouble and the Parochials are anxious to turn the tables on the Rock boys.

Rock probably will start Kulju, Kaukola, Kleiber and Norkooli against the Parochials with Campbell, Chenail and Kaukola in reserve.

MAY LOSE ST. CYR

As the Parochials prepare for their Friday night game with Rock Little Giants, Coach Carl Kant is just wondering if he will have the services of his regular forward, Don St. Cyr.

St. Cyr suffered an injured ankle early in the week and has been laid up since. He may be seen in action Friday night but it is not likely that he will be in the game very long.

Kant has been using a combination of Villeneuve and Kleiman at forwards, Hirn at Center and Jim Baker and Van Enkevort at guards this week and that outfit may start against Rock. Others who probably will get into the game are St. Cyr, Knauf, Joran, Feldhausen, L. Baker and Young.

HAWKS PREPARE FOR KINGSFORD

Local Hockey Team to Open Season Here January 15

Practice is being held every night at the outdoor hockey rink by the Escanaba Hawks in preparation for the opening game of their home schedule against the strong Kingsford club on Wednesday night, Jan. 15th.

Babs Petaja, Hawk coach is putting the local "puck chasers" through strenuous workouts in anticipation of a tough battle from the Kingsford boys. New faces are being added to the local lineup and prospects are highly encouraging.

Any local plays who have had hockey experience are invited to try out for the Hawks by reporting to Coach Petaja on Thursday or Friday night at the outdoor rink and every chance will be given them to show their ability.

Plans for a big opening on Wednesday night are now being worked out by the Hawk management and will be announced shortly.

SPILLING the DOPE

BY JOHNNY INKSLINGER

BUTTON, BUTTON, who's got the button? . . . the question before the house this morning is: Was the class C-E basketball tournament issued to Escanaba high or St. Joseph? . . . officials of both schools are still in the dark . . . the Associated Press story from Lansing mentioned only Escanaba as the site of the tourney and local school officials as yet haven't been officially notified by Charlie Forsythe . . . Escanaba high officials are inclined to think the tournament has been awarded to St. Joseph while Parochial officials think it was awarded to Escanaba . . . it seems that both schools, when approached by Forsythe some time ago, were luke warm on accepting the meet but said that they would be willing to stage it, provided no one wanted it . . . St. Joe made it plain that they would not take the meet in the event that Escanaba got the class B meet while Escanaba said it would not take the C-E tourney in the event that St. Joe wanted it . . . so there the matter stands until official word has been received from Forsythe . . . we should have word in a day or so.

American youths are getting plane and higher education all at one time.

WITH DUE APOLOGIES to Mark Twain, let's talk about the weather . . . but merely to rebark that it is not very conducive to talking about baseball . . . so we'll talk about baseball . . . George Williams, the city's most ardent baseball fan, isn't bothered a bit by snow and northwinds as he makes the rounds of city officials and businessmen in his drive to get a good grandstand for the city's new baseball park . . .George is trying to generate enthusiasm for financing a project for the construction of a concrete and steel grandstand with dressing rooms and public toilet facilities underneath . . . he declares that, with such a grandstand and a lighted field, night baseball could be made a popular sport in Escanaba and refound financially to every merchant, gas station and eating place in the city . . . and he isn't far from wrong, either . . . the sand in the oyster is in getting proper enthusiasm aroused . . . but George's bulldog tenacity is just the thing that will put over such a project.

Bragging is just blowing off steam—self esteem.

SMALL TOWN BOYS have a way of making the grade in colleges . . . a Detroit paper has this item: "Most improved player on Michigan's basketball squad is Leo Doyle, sophomore forward . . . he wasn't even listed when squad roster was issued . . . but in his first two collegiate games, against Pittsburgh and Princeton, Doyle scored five field goals" . . . this chap Doyle hails from the little Upper Peninsula town of Pequaming up in the Copper Country . . . we named him on our unofficial All U. P. tourney team two years ago after seeing him perform at the regional in Marquette . . . Bob Shemky should make the grade with the Wolverines next year . . . we talked with him the other day and he believes now what we told him several months ago—that college basketball is much more to his liking than football . . . Bob is determined to make the grade and is the type of a boy who will work hard to gain his end.

BIG TEN RACE WILL BE TOUGH

Several Upsets Feature Opening Rounds Of Conference

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 8—Promises of the wildest Big Ten basketball race in recent years will receive a second test this week end as all but one Conference team swings into its championship schedule. Monday games will see all ten teams in action.

Opening shots in the campaign felled the 1940 champions, Purdue by Illinois. Minor upsets were scored in Ohio State's defeat of Michigan and Minnesota's win over Wisconsin.

First-night games for the six teams resulted in three scoring marks at 14 points and three at 13 points with eleven men hitting for ten points or more. Bob Richmond of Illinois, Forest Sprowl of Purdue, and Jack McLain of Ohio State each counted 14 points while Art Mathieson of Illinois, Herb Brogan of Michigan and Dick Fisher of Ohio State were scoring 13 points. Sprowl and Fisher each counted for six field goals.

Conference teams enter championship play with a winning average of .719 in outside competition. They won 48 of 67 games from coast to coast, scoring an average of more than 41 points per game.

Leader in non-Conference play was Iowa, undefeated in seven games, followed by Indiana, the 1940 N. C. A. A. champions, which lost one in eight games.

Illinois, which lost to Temple and Pitt in pre-Conference games, will test the Hoosiers Saturday at Champaign.

East Lansing, Jan. 8 (AP)—Ben F. Van Alstyne, head basketball coach at Michigan State college, was ill at home today, suffering from influenza contracted while on the eastern trip with the team.

Al Kircher, of the coaching staff, directed a workout for players who did not see action in the Long Island and Temple games. He planned to have the whole squad out for practice tomorrow in preparation for the Marquette game here Friday night.

Escanaba Ski Club Will Meet Tonight At City Hall Here

The Escanaba Ski club will meet at the city hall at 7:30 o'clock this evening, instead of the Danforth hill ski park, A. J. Geartts announces.

Lack of snow at the ski park caused the change in plans. All club members are asked to attend the meeting at the city hall this evening. Important business matters will be discussed.

AWARD GIVEN TO GREG RICE

Former Notre Dame Man Acclaimed for His Sportsmanship

New York, Jan. 8 (AP)—Gregory Rice, former Notre Dame runner and holder of the American record at two and three miles, today was named winner of the 1940 Sullivan award, annually presented to the athlete who was judged to have done the most during the year to advance the cause of sportsmanship.

Rice, who lowered the two-mile mark to eight minutes, 56.2 seconds and the three-mile standard to 13 minutes, 56 seconds, was the overwhelming choice of the 600 sports leaders who participated in the voting. He polled 1,013 points, more than his next two rivals combined.

Al Patnik, Ohio State diver, was second with 500 points; Fred Wolcott, Rice Institute hurdler, third with 479; Cornelius Warmerdam, San Francisco Olympic club athlete who raised the pole vault mark to 15 feet 1⅛ inches, fourth with 476 and Joe Platak, Chicago handball ace, fifth with 404.

Rice's victory was unique in that he never had been considered in previous years. Most of the other winners had been nominated in other years, before winning the coveted award. But his smashing series of record performances both indoors and out, his conquest of Finland's Taisto Maki, and his winning of the indoor three-mile and outdoor 5,000-meter national crowns stamped Rice as one of the real stars of 1940. He also won the 5,000-meter championship in 1938 and 1939.

The Notre Dame alumnus is the seventh track and field star to win the award since Bobby Jones won the first trophy in 1930. Other track winners were Barney Berlinger, 1931; Jim Bausch, 1932; Glenn Cunningham, 1933; Bill Bonthron, 1934; Glen Morris, 1936, and Don Lash, 1938.

Other winners were Lawson Little, golf, 1935; Don Budge, tennis, 1937, and Jo Burk, rowing, 1939.

Fifth Block Taken By Hoppe, 60 to 46

Chicago, Jan. 8, (AP)—Champion Willie Hoppe "poured it on" his long-time rival again today, defeating Jack Schaefer of Cleveland, 60 to 46, to win the fifth straight block of their 480-point challenge match for the world's three cushion billiards title.

Hoppe now has a cumulative lead of 300 to 192 through 237 innings of play.

Schaefer made his best showing since the match opened last Monday, twice equalling the high run mark set by Hoppe by putting eight billiards together.

But the New York title holder simply wasn't to be beaten. He led 31 to 14, at the intermission point and, although he ran into a string of scoreless frames late in the game, he rallied brilliantly to end the block in the 44th inning with an unfinished run of five.

ONE HAPPY FAMILY

Milwaukee, Wis. — There's quite a little crowd on hand when the families of Marquette university basketball player sit in on the Hilltoppers' games. Coach Bill Chandler's 17 proteges report they have 30 brothers and 29 sisters. Forward Mike Swieciak has six brothers and four sisters, and is second in that family of 11. Forward Johnny Goodyear brags of six sisters and two brothers, while Guard Tom McCarthy has three brothers and five sisters.

Los Angeles, Jan. 8 (UP)—The course was long, the course was tough, and the rain it fell.

But two boys had faith. One was Johnny Bulla, and one was Sammy Snead.

It was ever thus. Well, if not forever, in 1936 anyway, when these two big country boys first met and decided to conquer the golfing world together.

Bulla's victory in the $10,000 Los Angeles Open tournament at the Riviera Country Club yesterday brought the two of them closer to their dream.

But let's go back to 1936 and Miami in December, when Johnny and Sammy first became friends.

Neither was known at the time. Bulla was just a big strapping fellow from Greensboro, N. C., and Snead was fresh out of the hills of West Virginia.

Pooled Savings

They didn't have $200 between them. But they liked one another at first sight, and over a hamburger decided to pool their meager savings and make golf winter tours. The first thing they did was buy a car, a second-hand jalopy that looked as if it might not hold together long enough to get them to California for the first big event of the circuit—the Los Angeles Open. As they drove out of Miami and headed west, Snead made a suggestion. "Let's split any money we happen to make, Johnny," he said. "You take half of what I make and I'll take half of yours." But Johnny voted against that.

"No," he said. "We'll share expenses, but let's not split any dough."

You know what happened. Snead, almost overnight, became the sensation of professional golf. Before the next year rolled around he had won something like $14,000. In 1938 he won more than $20,000, and in 1939 and 1940 established himself as the No. 1 player and drawing card in the business.

First Big Win

Bulla didn't win haircut money for the first two years. But Snead was his pal, and Snead saw that he made all the tournaments. They played together, they ate together, they traveled together, and wherever you saw one, you saw the other. Until he won yesterday, Bulla had never finished first in a tournament. He had shown flashes of brilliance. In 1939 he was second in the British Open at St. Andrews and in the same year led the National Open tournament in Philadelphia at the end of the third round. But he never was able to crash through and continued to be obscured by the fame of his illustrious comrade.

It was raining—and raining hard—when he started to play his last few and crucial holes yesterday. It wasn't fit weather, down there by the ocean, for man or beast. But Snead was out in it to see his pal come through. He walked those last holes with Johnny and rooted him in, and the smile he wore when Johnny sank his last and winning putt was as honest as the day is long. Johnny had justified the faith that Sammy had in him, when broke and unknown the two of them had headed west four years ago to try for fame and fortune.

Johnny won the tournament playing a 35 cent drugstore ball, and—but that's another story for another day.

APOLSKIS NAMED

Milwaukee, Wis. — Maxwell Stiles, well-known Pacific coast sports writer, in coming through with what probably is the last of 1940's All-America football picks, omitted Rudy Mucha of Washington as center on his three elevens, and named Ray Apolskis of Marquette as snapperback on his first team.

SECOND UPBAY GAME CHANGED

Eskymos Drill Hard For Tilt at Gladstone Friday Night

There was no let-up yesterday for the Eskymos as Coach Jim Rouman sent his boys through another stiff session in preparation for the invasion of Gladstone tomorrow night.

Rouman was non-commital about chances of his team Friday night but it was plain that he is worried that his old coach, Eldon Keil, will spring a big upset on him. Rouman is very familiar with the strength of the Gladstone team and realizes the Braves have one of their best teams in years but seems to be unable to convince his boys of that fact.

There is not likely to be any drastic changes in the Eskymo lineup for tomorrow night, with the starting lineup undoubtedly including Capt. Keith McDonald, Ed Gauthier, Donnie Pfotenhauer, Stuie Peterson and George Shomin. Francis Pryal, diminutive sophomore who tickles the crowds' fancies, and Don Feller probably will see much action.

While the Eskymos are preparing for the Gladstone game, officials from both schools have made arrangements to change the date of the second game, which was originally scheduled for February 25, a midweek game. Because of the late tournament dates, this game has been changed by mutual agreement to Friday, March 7. It will be played on the local court.

YARD CONTEST TO BE REVIVED

Munising Club Outlines Activities Program for Year 1941

Munising, Jan. 8—Reviving the yard and garden contests which proved popular here until they were discontinued two years ago, getting new industries for Munising, and adopting a 1941 working budget were the chief items on the program at a meeting of the Development club Monday night.

The yard and garden contest, previously sponsored through affiliation with a national association, will be held again this year, with the club supplying entry cards, judging cards and information pamphlets. The city commission has included in its budget for the year $75 for distribution as prizes.

When held in previous years, the contest was open to all residents of the city and it proved a stimulus for garden, lawn and home improvement.

Munising banks received yesterday, from the Federal Reserve System, requests for information concerning industries which manufactured window casings, sills and other construction parts. Because of an acute shortage of these items, necessary in the national defense program and particularly in the building of barracks for army trainees, there is an urgent need for such producers, the letter from the Federal Reserve said. The possibility of starting a factory here to make these products was discussed last night, and a committee was appointed to investigate and take steps to see what could be done toward starting such an industry here. On the committee are V. A. Floria, B. L. Zastrow, Julius Thorson, Borah Osser and W. A. Cox. A meeting will be called soon of persons interested.

Changing of the club's financial set-up to secure greater working capital and to encourage more public interest in its program was another subject treated at the meeting.

SWAN JOHNSON

Funeral services for Swan Johnson, 58, of Sundell, will be held tomorrow afternoon at one o'clock from the Bowerman Funeral Home here. The Rev. Frederick T. Steen, pastor of the First Presbyterian church will officiate. Last rites will be held at the graveside in Skandia cemetery at 2:30 o'clock. Mr. Johnson was found dead on Tuesday afternoon near Sundell.

Mr. Johnson was born on May 27, 1882, in Sweden and came to the United States in 1889. Surviving him are two brothers, Stewart of Sundell and Frank of Yalmer and two sisters, Mrs. Ida Rodabough of McFarland and the other in Sweden.

Development Club Works Out Budget; May Revamp Fees

Munising, Jan. 8—Submitting a report it had worked on several weeks, a special budget committee of the Munising Development club last night recommended a revamping of the membership fees, urged that steps be taken to create greater interest in the work of the organization, and outlined several projects which it believed the club should carry in its schedule. The committee members were Borah Osser, George Luell and James Hosking.

"After checking club expenditures of the past several years, we have made a list of regular expenses which are necessary in carrying on its program," the committee said. "These include administrative expense, advertising material and events and dispsnsing information.

"The budget we have prepared for this year is based on the average of necessary expenditures of past years and totals $670. To raise that amount of money through memberships at the present rate of $5 each is impossible. We, therefore, recommend the changing of membership fees to the following: Sustaining memberships, $25; business organizations, business places, with one membership covering all employees, $10; professional memberships, for small business and individuals, $5."

The complete budget, as recommended and adopted at Monday's club meeting, held in the Beach Inn, was:

Postage and telegrams, $30; prizes for lake trout trolling contest, $30; advertising, $225; Upper Peninsula Development Bureau Lure Book advertising, $150; information bureau, $120; membership in Michigan State Chamber of Commerce, $10; share of sponsoring yard and garden contest, $5; administration expense, $50; miscellaneous, $50.

The adopted budget, and recommendations, are effective this year.

MUNISING OPENS CARNIVAL FEB. 14

Winter Sports Program Includes Variety of Events

Munising, Jan. 8 — The second annual winter carnival to be held here will begin on February 14 and tentative plans are to carry out a Valentine theme.

The 1941 carnival will include a parade and program of ice events, dance, coronation of the winter queen and end up with the Munising Ski club's ski jumping tournament on February 16.

The program will be arranged by a committee of representatives from various local clubs. Mrs. Charles Symon has been named general chairman.

The winter queen will be elected by popular vote. All registered voters in the city will be eligible to cast their ballot. The election will be held on the afternoon of January 24 and all day January 25, ending at 9 p. m. All girls 17 years of age or over are eligible to enter the contest. All contestants must register with the city clerk by noon January 18.

MUNISING BRIEFS

Pine, Spruce and Jewel streets have been designated by city police as coasting streets for persons using sleds. Stop signs have been placed at the intersections of those streets and motorists are asked to use additional care while driving on those streets.

AT GRAND MARAIS

Munising, Jan. 8—City Patrolman John McPhee and State Trooper John Carstensen will be at the Grand Marais town hall next Tuesday to give examinations for operators' and chauffeurs' licenses. The two will start the tests at one o'clock. All who desire to avail themselves of this service are asked to take the examinations at that time since it saves the residents of the Grand Marais area a trip to Munising to take the tests.

MRS. TUTTLE DIES

Menominee — Mrs. Gertrude Sawyer Tuttle of Live Oak, Fla., a daughter of the late R. J. Sawyer of this city, died December 23 in the South according to word received from Mrs. R. G. Marriner of Glencoe, Ill., a former Menominee resident.

Mrs. Tuttle died in Live Oak in the home of her son, John Flood, with whom she had lived since the death of her husband, Trigg Tuttle, two years ago. Another son, Robert Tuttle, also lives at Live Oak. Survivors include a sister, Mrs. Arthur Moffett (Edna Sawyer) of Glendale, Calif.

Mrs. Tuttle as a young woman was heroine of an exciting rescue on Green Bay. While rowing a group of children in a skiff off the west shore here she lost an oar as a squall struck the boat. Unable to row the craft against the wind with one oar she sculled it before the gale all the way across Green Bay to safety on the east shore. The oar she used was for many years one of the most popular exhibits in the Spies Public Library museum.

Fresh garden beans contain about as much vitamin C as tomatoes. Although from 30 to 40 per cent of the vitamin content is lost in cooking, beans still are considered a good source.

CONTAGION RATE SHOWS DECLINE

Whooping Cough Is Still Prevalent In Rural Communities

Communicable disease cases in Delta county dropped during December from 87 admissions to service by the Delta county health office in November to 55 a monthly summary prepared by the health office reveals.

Whooping cough prevalence continued in several rural communities and also in Gladstone where it has been bothersome all fall. Other contagion declined to a minimum, with only a few scattered cases of scarlet fever, chickenpox and measles being reported. Two missed cases of poliomyelitis were uncovered and placed under treatment.

With the closing of schools for the holidays immunizations dropped to 66 smallpox vaccinations and 126 diptheria innoculations, but the pertussis (whooping cough) immunizations at Saturday morning clinics in the health department offices increased from 126 in November to 142 in December.

Difficulty had been experienced earlier in getting whooping cough vaccine from state laboratories, but plenty was available through December.

The general drop in results is accounted for chiefly in fewer treatments for veneral disease control, maternity and infant services and school services—the latter having dropped from 497 examinations by the health office in November to 212 in December.

Services for crippled children increased from two to eight, however, with 26 nursing visits recorded and a formal diagnostic and consultation clinic held in the health offices.

More Cars And Engines For 1941 Ore Increase

Supplying more locomotives and cars to handle an anticipated four and a quarter million tons of iron ore from Escanaba in 1941 was discussed with local officials here yesterday by E. B. Hall, chief mechanical officer, and L. R. Wink, superintendent of the car department of the Chicago & North Western railroad, Chicago.

More cars and more motive power both will be needed for the job this year, but details of what additions will be made were not finally decided yesterday. Indications the latter part of March will guide officials, who said that all needed equipment will be furnished.

Nearly three and a half million tons were shipped last year, so that the anticipated increase will amount to about 30 percent.

The Chicago officials conferred with both C. T. Weir, car plant foreman, and H. H. Thurber, master mechanic of the Peninsula division, along with Assistant Supt. W. S. Alcumbrac, as to the next year's needs.

The Peninsula division has on hand now approximately 2,300 Chicago & North Western cars and 685 Milwaukee road cars, for a total of about 3,000 cars. Sixteen engines were used last season in ore hauling from mine to docks and an average of 20 switch engines were used here and on the Menominee and Marquette ranges.

FISH PRODUCERS GROUP GROWING

Membership Drive Meet At Ingallston Peps Up Interest

Interest in the Michigan Fish Producers association was given a decided boost in the southern portion of district 4 (Delta and Menominee counties) by the meeting held at Ingallston on Tuesday evening. Nearly fifty commercial fishermen, the majority from the area between Cedar River and Menominee attended.

District 4 President Ralph Christensen and Councillor Roy Jensen were in charge of the meeting and a number of local fish operators attended. A good number of fishermen in the Ingallston area joined the association at the meeting and indications are that membership in that section will eventually approach the nearly 100 per cent figure of the fishermen here.

Claude Ver Duin of Grand Haven, secretary-treasurer of the state association was the principal speaker at the meeting and in an extensive talk explained the set-up, workings and aims of the association. D. H. Raess, district conservation supervisor also spoke at the meeting.

Protect Smelt

Smelt fishing was one of the phases of the fishing industry that came in for discussion during the meeting and fishermen in the Cedar River to Menominee river area presented a claim that the smelt fishing is to all practical purposes all that is left to them as a result of the decline of other species in the waters where they operate.

The smelt netters expressed a wish to protect the smelt by a closed season now while they are plentiful. They also are seeking to have the dippers limited to taking fish only for their own use and to have the spring spawning run dip netters barred from selling smelt. Such sales, they claim, so break the market price structure and load the storage plants that it seriously affects the earnings of their regular commercial operations.

Another promotional meeting of the association will be held in the near future at Garden for the convenience of fishermen living on the Garden peninsula. The state council of the association will hold a meeting in Lansing during the first week in February, according to present plans.
